Matt Anderson started off the week of Homecoming 1987-1988 with a bang, by getting up in the cafeteria and singing the school song for the studentbody. "It wasn't that bad, anything for a free ticket." On Tuesday, Danny Nelson won the pie eating contest by practically inhaling a pie to show his spirit. But the major event of the week was the Homecoming assembly held on Thursday night. The Homecoming spirit was high as everyone sang Towel Line and the assembly was held in the gymnasium. A pep assembly was held on Friday afternoon for the homecoming. After the pep assembly, the Homecoming parade was held with the school band and the Homecoming queen, Mary Ann, and her court. The parade was held on Saturday morning and was a great success. The Homecoming assembly was held on Thursday night and was a great success. B ehind The Scenes

They drag themselves out of bed in the wee hours of the morning. They live amongst the green tiled halls of good ol' Murray High for hours on end, practicing, perfecting, and practicing again. Why do these devoted students give so much of their time, effort, and money? Mark Johnson, a football captain, does it because he likes it, and added "At times it's hard, but when the team pulls together the end results are worth it." One of the Madrigals, Karen Goates, devotes so much of her time singing, "because it is a major part of my life, and I have always wanted to be a Madrigal." Spending so much time together there are a lot of good times. One of the funniest things that Jonathan Curtis remembers about the football team, "when we all slept on the football field, we went streaking and got caught by the cops on the overpass." Vonae Adams, a member of the cast for the musical, "42nd Street", laughed and said, "the funniest thing in one word? Fabian Zullo." Vonae sums it all up well by saying, "It's not the people that make it hard, sometimes it's the hours. But when it's all over and done, I wouldn't trade the experiences for anything." by Joanna Johnson

ello, Howdy and Hi

There are many ways to welcome us back.

There are many ways to greet someone but none of them are as unique as the way we say Hello.

Monday morning the Sophomores tried to find their lockers, get to their classes on time and figure out school lunch. Lisa Dastrup stated "The worst part of the first day was not knowing anyone." The Seniors arrived in their shorts and Tee-shirts ready to kick back and stick it out one more year. The Juniors were desperately trying to find out just what a Junior is supposed to do.

Thursday evening gave excitement to the lives of the students. It was Fun Fest 8. It was the best activity I've ever been to," admitted Angie Schwisow. What seemed like a slow start because of weather, turned into an explosion of activity. From the shaving of Russell Ruben's legs to Lavake Fakahalua biting a goldfish in half drawing gasps from the crowd. David O'Day slowly eyed the fish before swallowing and John Leiter also attempted the daring feat. Amee Racine added "I almost gagged just watching them."

There was also a Make Me Laugh contest which had Erik Black and Matt Anderson being comics with Scott Duffin and Joseph Davenport trying to succumb to the pressure. Although neither succeeded, the audience enjoyed them thoroughly. A lot of the students took the opportunity to reacquaint themselves with each other and get to know the Sophomores. Pee Wee's Big Adventure and Lucas entertained those who stuck it out. Over all the evening was a great success. Heather Robinson confessed, "It was as fun as you made it."

Friday ended Hello Week with a bang. That afternoon was a pep assembly. Each class presented their royalty seniors, being Marci McDonald and Kim Thacker, rode stylish in their buggy pulled by Craig Madsen and Fabian Zullo. The Juniors presented Carrie Vandermyde and Craig Davies. Having a slight problem with their chariot, they slowly made their way across the court. Finally Christy Brown and Justin Harris represented the Sophomores class in a little red wagon. The class chants preceded as usual with the Sophomores surprising all with their quick come backs.

The excitement continued as the students gathered for the Clash Bash stomp. Plaids to polk a dots were the attire for the daring. While the more conservative just mislatched their socks.

All in all the week was perfect. John Leiter summed it up by saying "It's great to be back."

A gain Spirit Rises

Cookie Monster says that the SPARTANS are the great big cookies at the top of the jar.

At our pep rallies you heard this and many other cheers. Many people put in a lot of hard work into our pep rallies which help rouse the spirits of our team and cheer them on to victory.

Some of the people that put their all into the pep assemblies were, the cheerleaders, the Spartonians and M.D.C. The studentbody officers contributed a lot to our pep assemblies. And let's not forget our school band who livens up the assemblies with their jammin' tunes. "It's cool when everybody relaxes and has fun to help build 'School Spirit,'" stated head cheerleader Heather Young. Carrie Vandermyde added, "It really helps us out to have the student body cheer with us and show support to our teams."

We proved to the rest that we are The Great Big Cookie at the Top of the Jar, by keeping the spirit of our school alive.

 Angela Barrett commented, "I like the mu-the cool people that go to the stomp." Some students like going to stomps because "it's better than sitting home on Friday

 ers go "to be wild and have fun." like Danise Jensen. Also, creative dances can be fun to go to. Chris Jensen specialized.

Dances are great. I like everything about them except when the band's bass is too loud and when every song sounds like La Bamba. Jackie Ortiz says, "Dances are wonderful. I especially like the setting

The Tall Tales and

Short Stories; well remembered

Ever since kindergarten you remember being the littlest in the class. And ever since then the kid sitting next to you has been the tallest in the class. So through your school career you've been trading daily weather reports from both perspectives. You've both learned to live with mother nature's mistakes. Sure you still had to put up with the smart crack jokes, but after a while you got so you could even laugh with them. "Speaking from a point of view, of 5'1", I have gotten used to the short jokes and the constant weight of bodies resting on my shoulders. I think short is awesome. So just kick back and enjoy it!" Said an anonymous red-head, "Being short isn't so bad anymore, finally the world has accepted us and are making things easier for us!" Announced Coach Forrest. Chris Jensen informed, "being tall helps me look over everyone in the hall and find my friends." Cory Hardman claimed that, "being tall always helps when your involved in sports."

"It's hard being short, but I go to dances and the girls don't care." Said Eric Smith. Terri Misaka informed all tall people, "I really hate it when you stand right in front of all of us, trying to block our sight, it's quite rude!" But, there are advantages and disadvantages for every size

"How easily are you flustered?"

Each of us react differently to embarrassing situations. Do you blush and stammer over spilled milk or not even notice your best friend is furious because you said her new hair do looks like Tina Turner? How well do you handle embarrassing situations? "To err is human. It's what you do next that can make or break you." Should you admit your mistake after you've put your foot in your mouth? Or should you take your way out. Take this quiz to find out where you fall on the line between being perfectly poised and poised for disaster.

- 1.) You borrow a friend's shirt and spill grape juice down the front. You:
 - a.) Try to clean off the stain, making it worse than ever, then pretend to be out when ever your friend calls
 - b.) Confess bravely and offer to replace the shirt?
 - c.) Return the shirt and convince your friend that she stained it
- 2.) Ten minutes into a phone conversation, you realize you're talking to someone other than the person you thought was on the line. You:
 - a.) Gasp and say, "Oh no, Alice, I thought you were Stephaniel"
 - b.) Pretend you knew all along
 - c.) Tell her she's got the wrong person and hang up
- 3.) You and a friend are sitting in a dark theater, discussing a mutual friend in unflattering terms. When the light goes on, you discover that the friend you have been talking about is sitting behind you. You

- a.) Apologize and say you didn't mean it.
 - b.) Try to convince the friend you were talking about someone else with the same name
 - c.) Say you staged it as a joke
- 4.) You dive into the pool, and your swimsuit falls off floating to the other end of the pool. You:
 - a.) Stay in the pool until everyone else has gone home
 - b.) Persuade a friend - or anybody! To bring you a towel.
 - c.) Climb out and ask the sexiest life guard you can find to retrieve your swimsuit
 - 5.) You've told all your friends about your handsome, tall, blonde boyfriend. You encounter him unexpectedly one day when you're with your small, dark, overweight boyfriend. You:
 - a.) Take off saying you need an ice cream cone
 - b.) Hide your face in his shoulder and hope he won't see you
 - c.) Tell them he's your brother
 - 6.) Introducing people at a party you realize you can't remember someone's name. You:
 - a.) Mumble something incoherent
 - b.) Say, "I'll let you introduce yourselves," and escape!
 - c.) Make a wild guess

7.) While visiting your boyfriend's parents for the first time, you accidentally break a favorite antique vase. You

- a.) Cry!
 - b.) Stuff the pieces into your bag and secretly try to replace the vase later
 - c.) Say, "It was such an ugly vase I thought I would do you a favor and break it"
- 8.) Your new boyfriend has given you a birthday present, but any minute now, he's going to look at your record collection and realize you already have that album. You:
 - a.) Say, "Thanks, the copy I have is scratched," then scratch it!
 - b.) Wait until he's not looking, slide the album out of the rack, hide it, resolving to give it to your brother
 - c.) Say, "My ex-boyfriend already gave me this. Would you mind if I exchanged it for something else?"

Lets see where you stand. Each letter is worth a certain amount of points (A=3, B=2, C=1) Depending on the amount of points, you'll either be 19-24 pts. You are just naturally mortified 11-18 pts. ompetition . . .

Lurks in every Murray High Student.

Once again the students of Murray High assembled into the gym for a fight to the finish. 'Spartan Olympics', games for the strong, arm wrestling, tug-o-war, games for the athletes, slam-dunk, eating contest and yes, games for the unicyclist, which was definately Johnathan Decker's sport.

The big question was, "Did the Seniors cheat?". A Junior, Aaron Hedrick replied, "That's the only way they can win," but his views were only shared by the Sophomores and Juniors. "The chants in the Senior section reassured a fair game."

"This Spartan Olymics, I feel, is the best I've attended! Not because I'm a Senior, although it helped, but because each section had so much enthusiasm, and the scores were pretty close!" Cheryl Kamenski smiled. "It's tradition that Seniors should win, and the Sophomores lose". Laurie Tyler added, but it wasn't an easy fight. The Sophomores ended the game with 100 points, which was earned by hardwork and sweat. The Juniors concluded with a well deserved score of 125, due to the intellect of the girls tug-o-war. The Seniors rounded up the games with a victorious 165 points, which saved their dignity.

reek Week . . .

5 days of Grecian Fun!

The week of January 4-8 was officially proclaimed Greek Week by the Student Body Officers. On Wednesday the students had a chance to show their endurance and strength at the Spartan Winter Olympics. A competition that ranged from eating the fastest to walking on womper stompers. But once again the seniors proved who was stongest and the best by dominating the score paper and also within class pride as.

Throughout the week each student had a chance to buy computer printouts of people who they were compatable with. "I kind of wondered why all the girls were running around waving papers, screaming and laughing," commented Randy Gehl. The print out gave the top ten girls or guys, whatever the case may be, that you'd be best watched with. "I've never even heard of half the people on my list," commented Jenifer Killpack. But Jennifer Belliston added, "If only this list were true!"

Greek Week came to a close on Friday with a wild Toga Stomp. The gym looked like a sea of white sheets with an occasional flowered or Snoopy sheet dotting the horizon. A God and Goddess was voted from each class during the week and they were crowned as the Greek Royalty at the stomp. "It took forever to get ready for but it was a riot!" exclaimed Dana Buchmiller. The traditional Toga Stomp was a perfect way to end a perfect week, a week filled with excitement, pride, and enthusiasm.

What is she saying? Reed Sutherland becomes enthralled with his education. Listening to the teacher is one key element to succeeding-but is he really doing that?

HITTING THE BOOKS! Carolyn Snarr, in deep concentration, reads the chapter assigned to the class. Even though reading is not the most exciting thing to do when it comes the time for the test, she'll know the answers

"Ah! I know the answer and Earl got it wrong." Robert Jorgenson and Earl Webster are working hard on their assignment. Sometimes it's helpful to work with a friend and compare answers, even though your friends can be wrong

The Homework must get done! Sometimes you just have to get away from it all, even if you have to sit on the stairs to re-group your thoughts. Being able to concentrate makes it worth while when you get good grades on a test

The Cheating Action...

Does it really pay off?

Have you ever had a night when you had to work late and had a big test the next day, you had 'better' things to do than study, or just didn't study. Many people resort to the cheating action. There are many ways to cheat, looking at your neighbors paper, writing the answers on the bottom of your shoes, or copying the answers the night before and passing them back while listening to your headphones during the test. Jamie Burgon said, "I haven't cheated for two years!" Could it be that our teachers have figured out our methods, or is it that we just simply underestimate them?

Do you ever dream of being a straight "A" type of student just once in your life. Brian Moody stated "To get good grades you have to be a lot like me." Blake Gram informs us, "You need to be willing to study, and don't be afraid to ask for help if you're confused." Scott Finlinson sums it up by saying "It takes more than what I've got, because last year I got an A."

Annette McDaniel and Linda Lawrence

YOU got an A?!!? Jacquie Dover, Debbie Carnahan, and Michele Golder show expressions of excitement as they look at their report cards. All those long and hard hours of studying finally paid off!

"Hey Erin, what's the answer to number 5?" Judy Cook and Erin Farley discuss their assignment. This seems to be the easiest way to get the right answers, but does it really pay off?

Knock off all the NOISE! Roy McDaniel tries to study while Matt Black and Dave Platt chat. Some people really know what it takes to get those good grades LONG hours of studying.

In-Out School Life

What do You do when the last bell rings?

Anxiously watching the clock as the minutes seem to stretch into hours. You are sure a nervous breakdown is just around the corner if you don't get out of that classroom. The bell finally rings and you're half way down the hall before it even thinks of finishing. You are free, at least until the next morning, from the torture of learning. What do most students do when they are through with school for the day? Connie Rice, a definite soap opera addict confidently stated, "I watch 'Days'." Angie Schwisow laughed, "Sometimes I go home, but not always right after school. I usually watch

'Days' and then run a few errands or hang-out, if I'm really bored I do home work." Aura Lee Allen said, "I just go to a friends, or else I go home and sleep."

What is the most popular thing to do? If it were up to the parents it would be, obviously, HOMEWORK, but since teenagers have more sense than parents, we usually bag the homework and hang out at the local Phillips 66' gas station. This may seem like a waste of time, but unknown to some, this is really a education experience. I might even pump gas for a living.

by Joanna Johnson

Put on your cheering caps! Now we just need Natali Fitt and Shauna Seamons to pay attention at our pep assemblies like our devoted supporter Brady Soffe who is overflowing with school spirit

"Lets go Murray!" Many sophomore and junior girls spend their out of school time cheering our Spartan men on the football field. The pep club always gets the crowd involved with the game

Ugh! What is he doing to that girl? Nannette Ranks, Angela Kester, Kriss Maero, and Troy Thompson are disgusted with an unsightly incident going on in the middle of the park

Getting prepared Doug Chapman and other senior and junior guys nervously wait the wide range of questions that will be asked by the girls in Mrs. Gargyle's Parent Ed. class

Now, love, let me just touch up your eyeliner a wee bit. Mr. Pond helps Travis Lloyd put on the finishing touches of his make up for the musical 42nd Street. It was a big success.

vacations"

Summer ahhhhh . . . It went so fast. Just the thought of being out of school is enough for some, but for others they, "Wished the summer would have gone on forever," moaned Suzy Scott. Allen Dillinger who went to Hawaii and picked pineapples said, "I had a great time." As for Joanna Johnson, who went to Florida, "I had a wild 2 weeks scopeing out those fish!" Leslie Hytry who had problems getting up in the morning before noon, remarked that she would never go through the trauma again! But as for Justin Hardwick, who was up and on his way to summer school before 7 a.m., it was no big deal!

So as the summer came to a close, everyone, seemed to have a fantastic summer doing what ever they do best.

What's Minnie saying? Although it is not "WALLY WORLD" many enjoyed the night's light parade. Many went to Disneyland over the summer to enjoy those California rays!

ignals

What do they mean?

Every time you walk by, he starts to mumble to himself. Is the guy just plain crazy . . . or is he crazy about you? Why do we send coded signals instead of being up front about our feelings?

As we look back in our memories upon our high school years we see many signals being sent. Maybe a smile, a look, or a touch of the hand. What do they all mean?

Girls are generally more adept to send encouraging signals. A girl literally throws her whole body into communicating that she'd like to know a guy better.

Usually guys try to appear important or unaffected by what girls do instead of risking appearance of vulnerability. It really makes me mad when guys always show off or try to be really cool, sighed Megan Sotte. But when it comes to signals it seems that guys often use it to conceal their real feelings about a girl.

We are easily confused by many of the actions we do to show our affection.

'What frustrates me is when you know a guy likes you but instead of calling you he calls your best friend,' retorted Krista Bult. Sometimes when a guy looks at you, you don't know whether they like you or if it's because something is wrong with you?' stated Summer Alvey. 'I always send signals to girls, but they just don't get them,' said a confused John Madsen.

Places to go Without the dough!

Movies, shopping, and bowling are all great things to do, but they cost money. Seniors are saving money for college, Juniors saving for Hawaii, and Sophomores don't have jobs, so there is no form of income. So what do you do, and where do you go when you haven't got the dough?

"When I have no money, I go to the park and play tennis," LuAnn Batholomew admittes. Which would work for anyone, unless you can't play tennis. Nathan Knapp said, "I would just go hiking." One of the most rewarding things to do is to play practical jokes. "I love to make up phoney surveys and call people on the

SOME NEW FACES FROM FOREIGN LANDS

Have you ever thought of how it would be if you were in a strange country where the language was different, the plains that you were used to turned into gigantic mountains and you didn't know a soul? If you have ever have, then you could understand how the exchange students in our school felt when they stepped off the plane into a totally new and unfamiliar lifestyle. Think about it, wouldn't it be hard to walk into a school that resembles a swimming pool with all that nice green tile, and adapt at once?

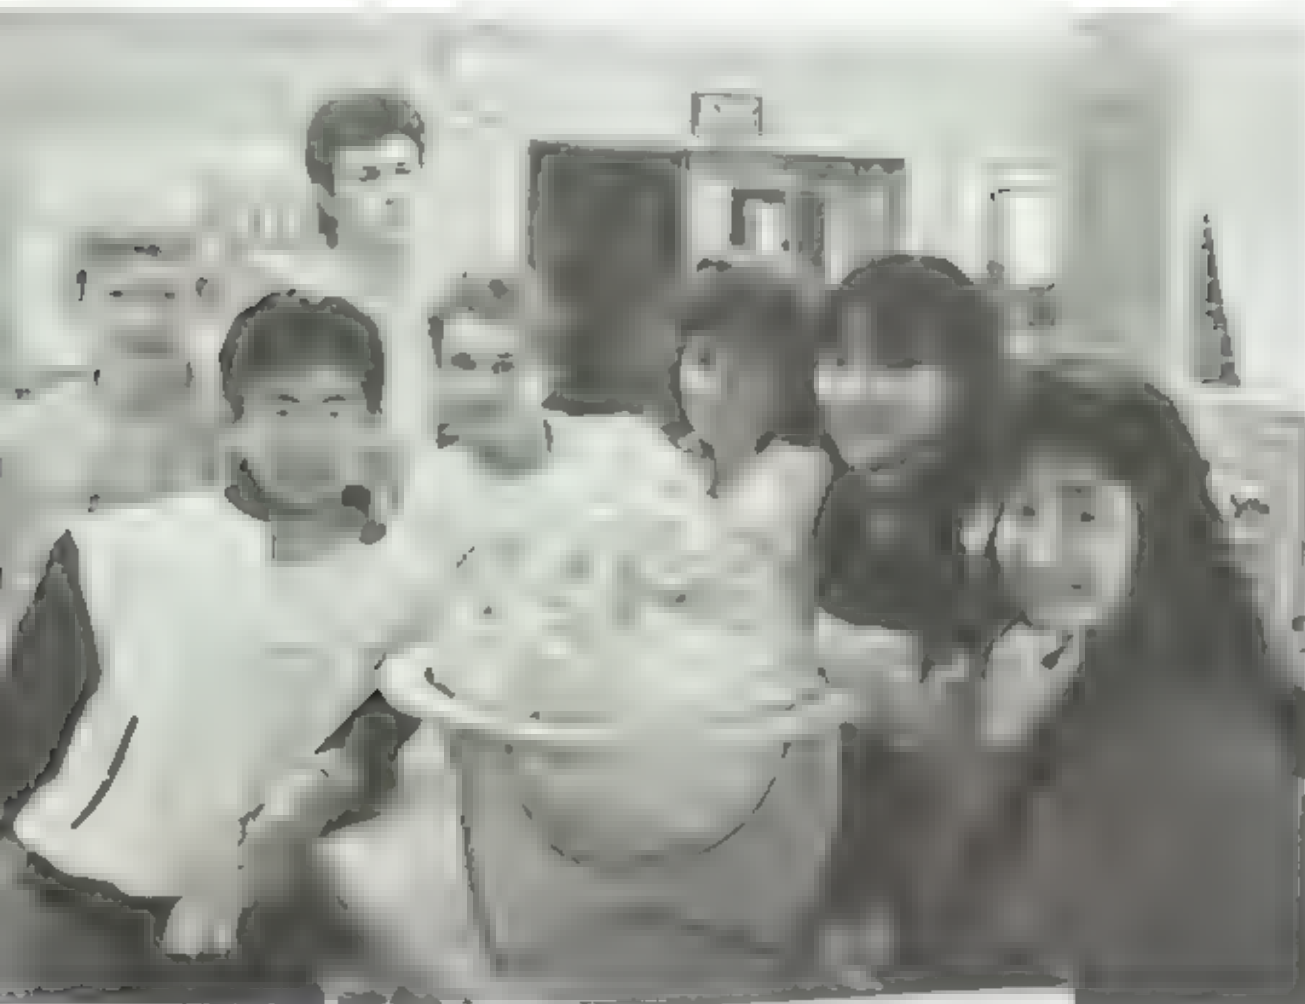

This year we had eight exchange students in our midst. Three are from Japan, two from Germany, and one representative from Barbados, Holland, and Denmark. When asked, they all admitted our school here in America was much more fun and basically kick back compared to their own. "In Europe, everything is academic," commented Judy van Es, from Holland. And Cornelius Goertz, a native German said, "I loved how you can play sports during school, and not just study the basics. Sure we play sports at home but not on school teams!" In Japan though their sports program are much like ours, they have a six day week and they have a mandatory uniform they must wear.

Ritsuko Hokari thought, "The best part of America is the freedom that you have." And her fellow Japanese friend agreed that, "America is wonderful, everyone is so happy!"

Is Love in the air?

Yes, along with Deuce and Match point.

"Out of all three years, this one has been the best!" admitted Kim Mecham, Captain of the Girls Tennis Team. Talk about statements coming true. They have done better this year than ever before. Every player usually walked away with a victory to celebrate, leading the team into region playoffs. Taking fourth place at Liberty Park where the region tournament was held, many players went on to state at Provo. Emily Black, first year player, was quoted as saying, "My first win was really exciting. I had to work hard to make it possible." "It's exhilarating to play a hard game and finally come out as the victor," admitted Jennifer Baker. Many hours of hard work and dedication payed off, not to mention the expert instruction given by Coach Sam Moore. "Sam's the greatest, no matter what anyone else says!" laughed Ann Waller, third year Veteran to the team. "I'm really proud of the team this year. They all made new friends and worked together towards the final goal," beamed Mr. Moore.

Even Without the Help of Lights!

"Football is a sport that produces some wonderful men. I love the men that play for MURRAY! You can tell they love the game because they put all of their time and effort into it. They have built their minds and bodies to its strongest point. I am thankful that I got to spend time with them and got to know them. Thanks you guys . . . I love you!" Shauna Seamons.

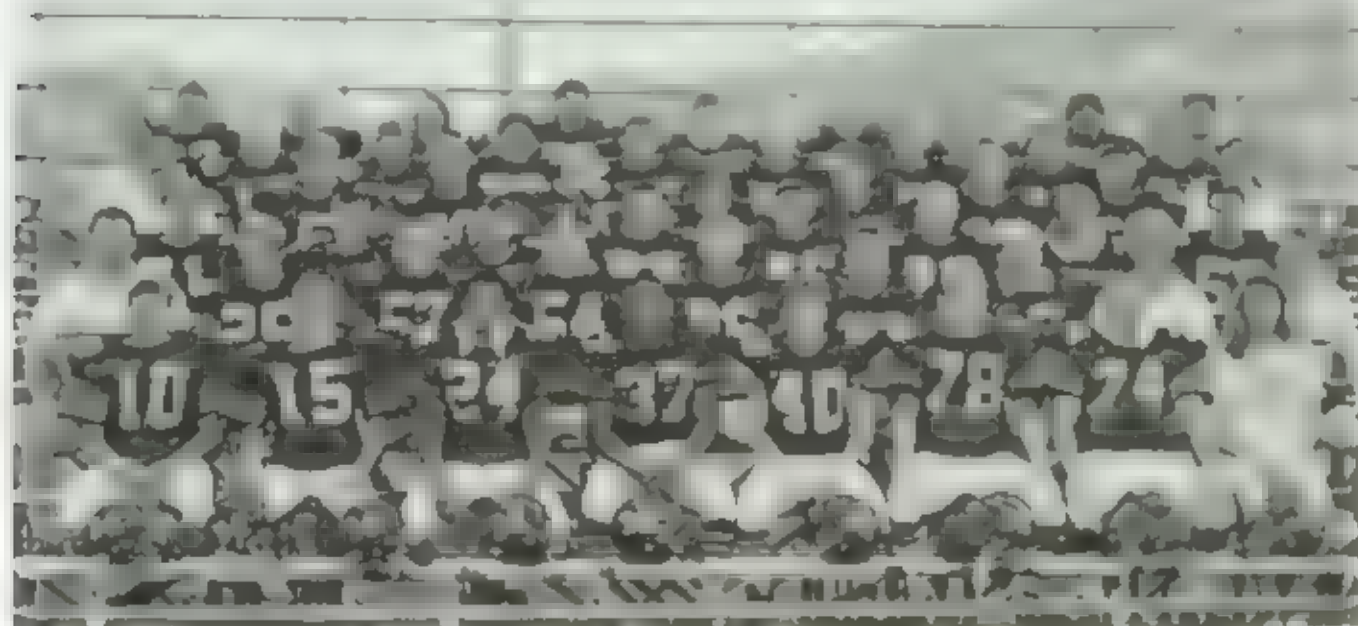

Nineteen-eighty seven was a year of change and turning points for many, including our football team. Not to mention the awesome addition of field lights, there was a sudden change of a head coach and the breaking of tradition with the first woman manager. The team handled all this newness with pride and dignity.

Even though we got off on a slow start, the Spartans managed to get to the State finals. And regional games were filled with excitement, especially the game at West where we came back from a 35-7 margin.

Finally a dream came true when, for the first time, the parents and fans could watch after the sun had fallen with help of new field lights. With the help of many parental donations, donated time and expertise and a generous check of fifteen thousand dollars from PEPSI, the wishes of many were cashed in. In honor, the field was named the Ray Olverson Field for countless dedicated years as the principle of MURRAY HIGH SCHOOL.

Football Fun?

Ya, But Not all Fun and Games

Practice, hardwork, and sweat payed off for our Sophomore and J.V. football teams. Their determination to win led to many victories. "But it wasn't all hard work," Ari Goodloe explains, "John Nelson, Johnathan Curtis, Peter and Robert Niebert kept the team entertained in the locker rooms by singing crazy songs."

The J.V. team lost their preseason game, but they didn't let that discourage them. At the MURRAY vs. Tooele game, Wayne Slaughter handed off to Deric

Pierson who then ran 95 yards and scored a touchdown. Many team members were reminded of their fathers as the coaches would call them by their fathers names. John Monson was known as 'Roy,' and Justin Pino as 'Bill!' "It's not that bad unless they say it in front of your parents," John Monson admits.

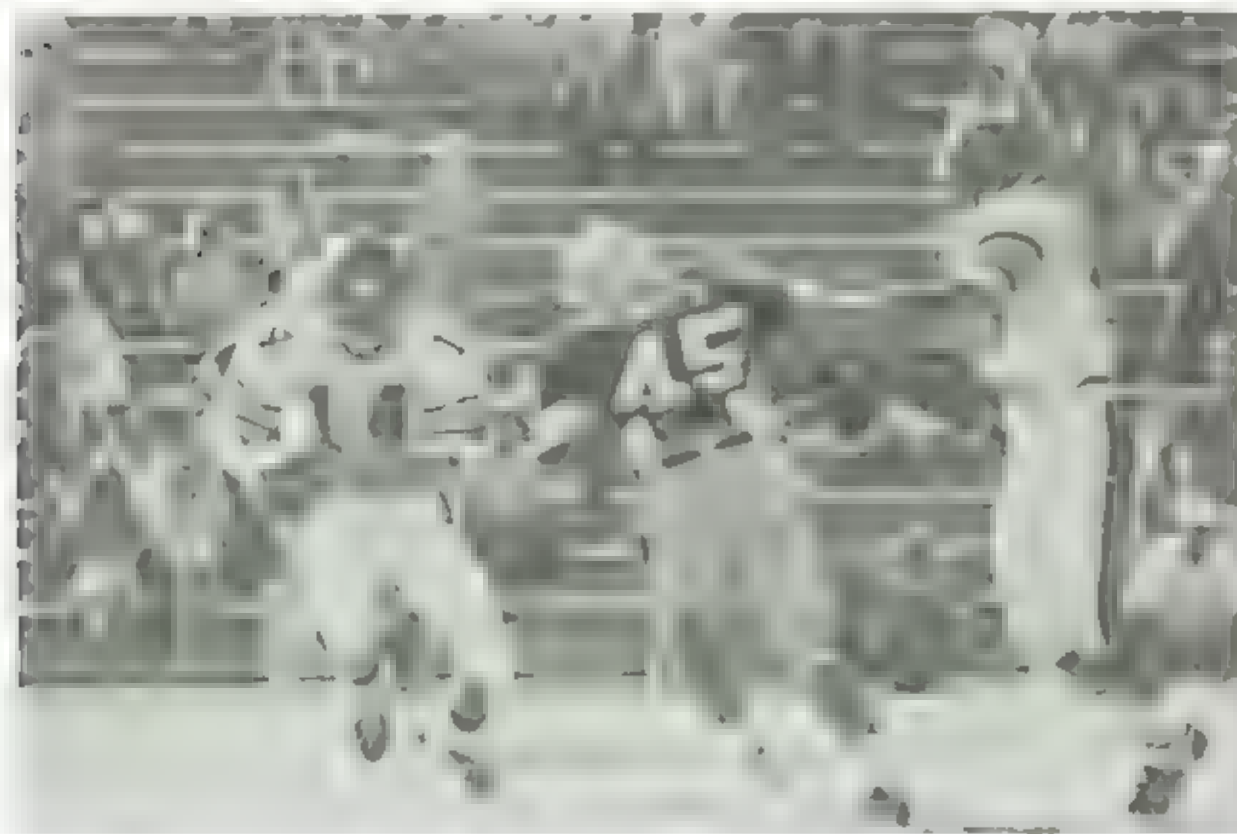

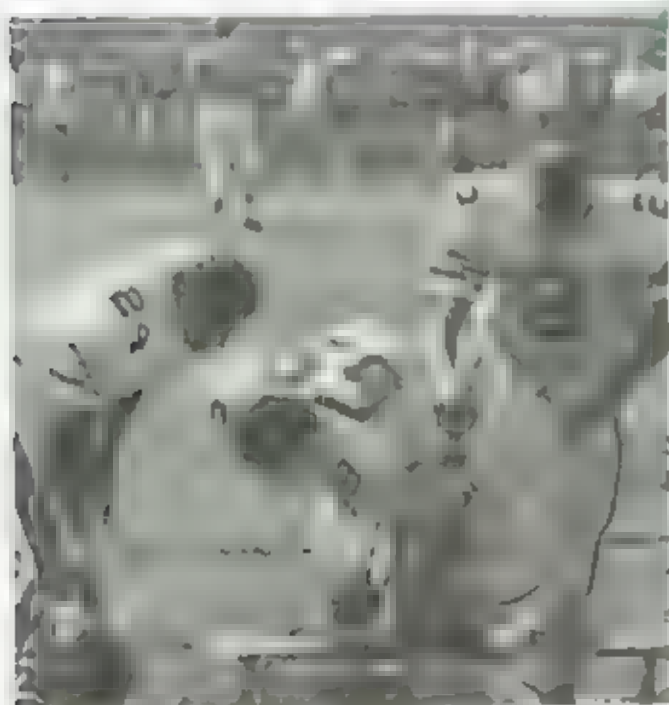

The sophomore team worked as hard as the J.V. Carson Winget was a valuable player making an awesome interception against Judge, and in another game scoring a touchdown with five seconds left at the half. Chad Torgeson was brutal by sacking the quarterback who then had to be taken off the field and to the bench in the game against South.

tretching, workouts and laps:

More than just running!

When you hear someone say the term 'a piece of cake', they most probably are not talking about cross country. This years 1987-88 Cross Country team did not have an undefeated record without a lot of hard work and dedication. The team rises early every morning and stays late after school to work and train for the up and coming meets. On the average they run about 3-4 hours a day and from 11-13 miles. "It takes up a lot of your time, so you really have to be dedicated to it and you have to have a really positive attitude", stated Tami Banks, one of the girls cross country captains.

As well as hard work, each person individually must make a great many sacrifices. They have to give up all junk food and carbonated drinks. They have a curfew of 11:00 p.m., and the night before a meet it is 9:30 or 10:00 p.m.. But the biggest sacrifice of all is the time they give up. Nathan Porter, one of the boys cross country captains noted, "You have to want to run for yourself and not for anybody else or it will never work." "The thing cross country has done for me," stated Lori Davis, a team captain, "is it has taught me dedication and responsibility. It really has made me a better person. Cross Country is the GREATEST!"

And the main force behind this winning team? Coach Dawson is really cool and he goes through a lot with us. Personally, I think he is the best coach in the state!! I praised David Faerber.

Hockey Club The Murray High Hockey Team had a rather outrageous season, with a few good wins, not to mention the help of a few key players, the hockey club managed to unite and work better as a team. Their attitudes on the ice have helped to improve the team and motivate them for the play-offs. With the rise of his eyebrows, Jeff Tavey explained, "The play offs is where Murray showed what they were made of." The team put all they had into the play offs and appreciated the fans support. With all of the new players added to the team this year, the crowd pleaser was Jeremy Collins. As one of his teammates said, "He's an animal on skates and never fails to get in a few key hits." Enthusiastically entering the gym, we are silenced by the opponent. Then we all reminded by our coach reminds of our potential to overcome any obstacle. We regain our confidence as we warm up with our teammates. The anticity builds in the gym as we take our turn on the net. Aggressively we take our excitement out on the ball and at the same time try to 'psych' out the apposing team. Game time approaches and as the coin is tossed, our confidence is strenghtened as we win the serve. The starting players are on the court. The crowd in the stands, help bring out the enthusiasm in the players. The whistle blows and the first serve crosses the net. As the rally ends, MURRAY recieves the first point of the game. Now that the first serve is over we relax a little. The game is very close, the rallys go on forever, and every point is a hard fight. As the end approaches the tension begins to rebuild. Every move counts. Any spike, set, pass, block, or serve could cost either team the game. A side-out for MURRAY. The score is 13 to 14 for the apponent, but MURRAY has the serve. The serve is good, the apponent sets it up, but MURRAY is there with the dig. We set up and spike the ball down in court. Point for MURRAY, 15 to 14. The last time out is called by the apponent. The server thinks of all the hours spent practising serving and tells herself, "I only need one more." She steps up behind the line, the whistle blows, the serve is bumped back. MURRAY sets it up, short set to the middle, and slams it right into the blockers hands. The blocker is in the net and MURRAY wins its first match. The bench springs to the floor, the crowd cheers. Now is when the hard work pays off.

To ask a swimmer if swimming is challenging, of course they will tell you that it is, but more goes in this sport than the average person would think. James Sundin, one of the captains said, "It's challenging if you work yourself . . . it's important to get your best time!" Not only do each of them have to master a certain stroke, they have to do it in record breaking time. But most always, the Murray Swimmer's are those who stand in the victory box. "Winning is the best feeling ever! There is no other feeling!" quoted Julie Robinson.

Victories don't come without numerous hours of workouts and preparation. Each swimmer is devoted to coming early in the morning or staying late into the evening to keep in shape. Cpt. Stacey Carter felt, "We've got what it takes both physically and mentally to defend our State Championship." And it is proven fact that swimming is the longest running sport that the school sponsors, starting in Sept. and going until Feb. or March depending on the State trials.

"The big plus for our team is that we're one big family, at State it all comes together!" said Cpt. Yvonne Heap. And so this hard working team should be patted on the back for all the work that they do to represent our school well.

Wrestling action

"This years wrestling team could probably be called one of the best teams I've ever coached. Under the leadership of team captains Tavake Fakahafua, Tod Bean and Jay Waterman, our Spartan team had an outstanding season. Several of our Spartan team had an outstanding season beating many of the top ranked teams in our region. Several of our wrestlers have placed high in 17 and 8 man tournaments, and many have received top honors. Foul shots and layups: All in a days work

When the snow begins to fall, the wind begins to blow, and the freezing cold air outside forces people to seek shelter indoors it can only mean one time of year — basketball season! As could be seen by the number of people that turned out, many of the M.H.S. students found that coming to watch our Varsity basketball team play was an exciting way to spend their evenings.

Each member of the team really gave it their all, and their efforts could be seen by just watching them play. Only by practicing morning and night six days a week, dedication, and a love for their sport, made these men look like they owned the court when they got out to play a game. Shay Wyatt informed, "I think that there was a lot of talent on the team, and that is why the team was so good."

In order to play for the team, each member had to make a lot of personal sacrifices. A lot of their free time was taken away, as well as many long hours of training and working out. "But it was all worth it!" exclaimed Doug Chapman.

Hard work and persistence added up to a winning season for our team, and they showed everybody that coming in ahead was just a common practice.

ractice . . . does make perfect

Although this year has been a difficult one, things have improved and both the J.V. and Sophomore basketball teams have high hopes for the future.

Many practices were endured, and their improvement was evident during their games. They all played to their best ability which made the outcome a respectable one.

The sophomores had a spirited attitude about playing and they put alot of hard work into their games. As sophomore Rick Shepard said, "I have very high hopes on taking state in '90." Carson Winget also agrees but he adds that, "Practice makes perfect, and that is what will take us all the way." But with Coach McAllister by their side, the Sophomores and Juniors were taught skills that helped them win many of their games.

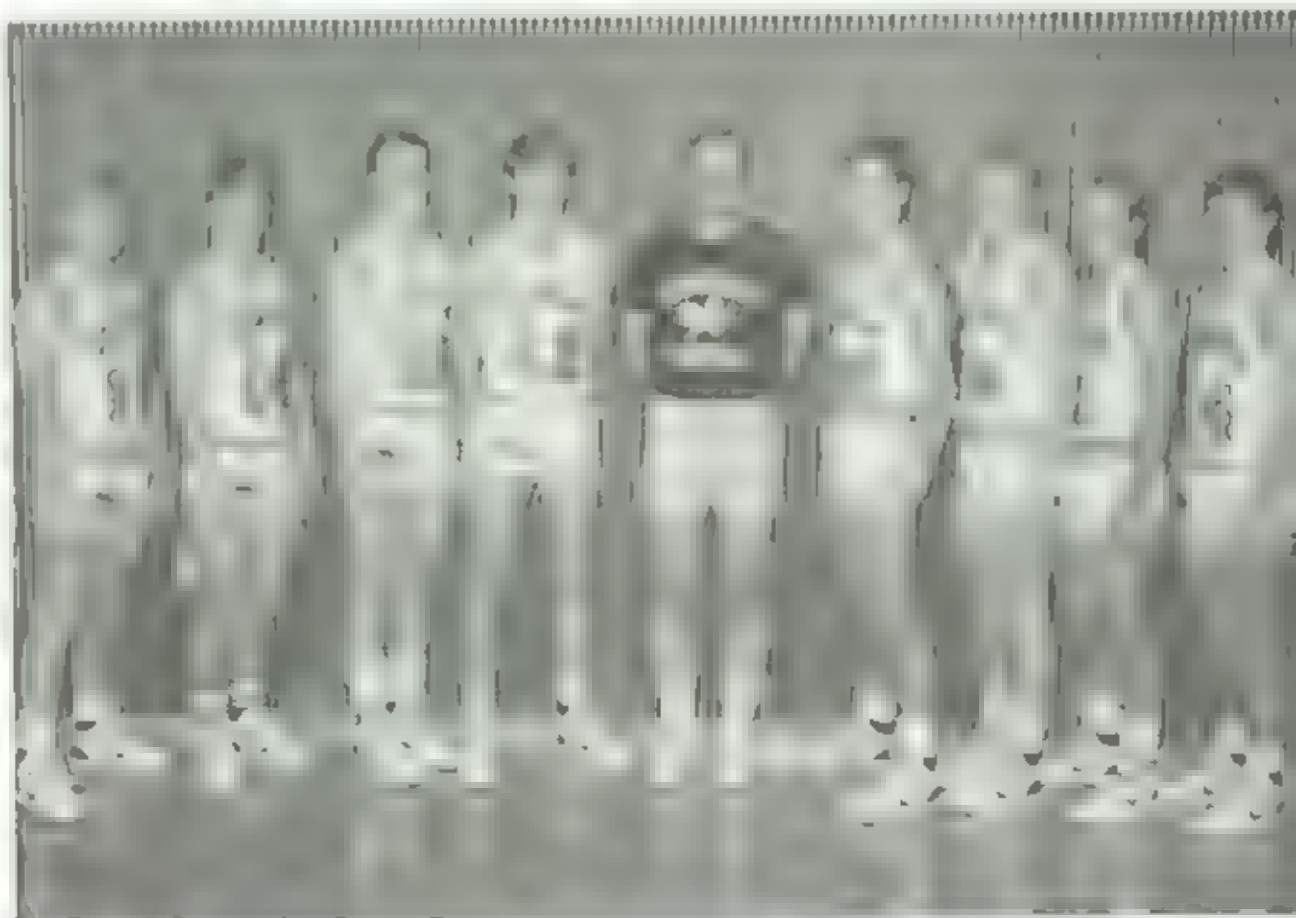

Murray's future basketball teams will be better because of the achievements and the attitudes of our sophomore and Junior Varsity teams.

The Lady Swishers

They were a great team.

The lady Spartans started out with new coaches and a young team causing obstacles that needed to be overcome throughout the year. Captain Denise Jensen stated, "Our coaches worked us really hard and it certainly paid off in many ways. We liked our new coaches and the way they pushed us to be better. We were lucky to have a team willing to work so hard." The Varsity team captains were Denise Jensen and Celisa Moody who have been on the team for four years. The J.V. team captains were Mendi Mortenson and Tammy Banks. "Basketball has been a big part of my life. I will really miss the team and coaches after graduation," pondered Captain Celisa Moody. You could see the team every day during 7th period and after school running, dribbling, shooting and mentally preparing themselves to take anyone on. Coach Shauna Andrus commented, "It's always hard being a new coach but the girls really worked hard and accepted me. Thank you girls for making my first year such a success!!!" The team worked very hard to improve their skills, but in the end, they feel it finally paid off with gratifying rewards that only the girls themselves could relate. Ginger McBride put it all into perspective saying, "The score does not tell all."

HELPI Get over here! Mendi Mahon (#12) with a calm but fierce tone asks for some help from her fellow lady Spartans to lead a play important to the game. Skill along with teamwork helped lead the lady Spartans to many victories.

Heather are you comin? Heather Irwin (#32) does double time to help her buddy out (#3). Unless they work as a team, it won't work! Working together was essential during the games, but all their work paid off in the end though.

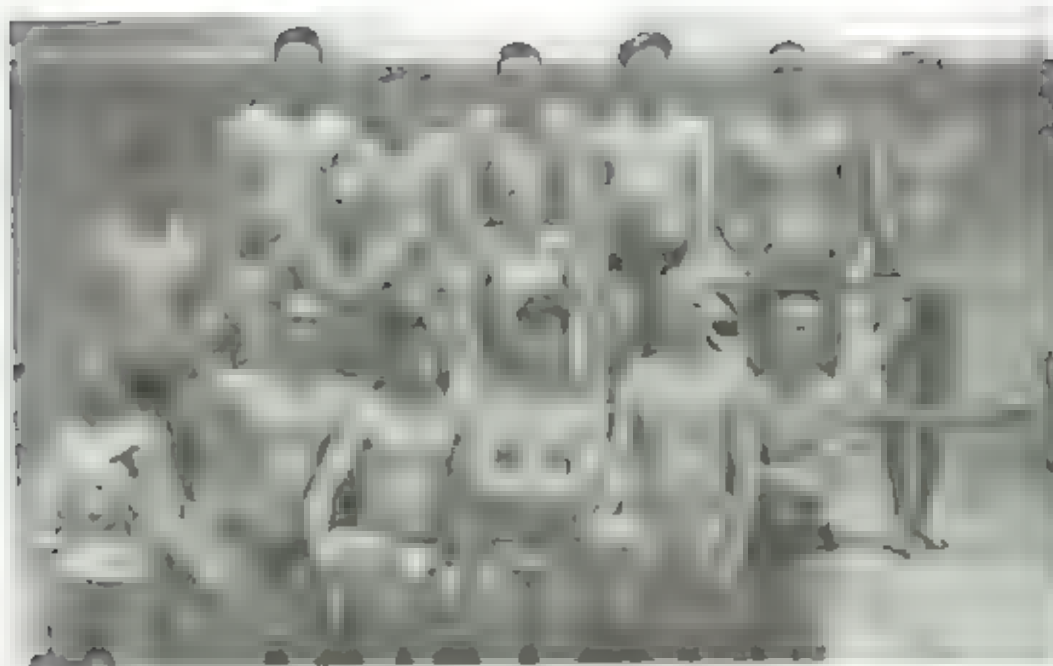

"I got it!" calls Mindi Mahon (#12) as Kari Thomas (#10), Kathy Names (#20) and Mendi Mortensen (#14) wait for the re-bound. Picking up rebounds in the defensive zone proved to be successful in converting to offense

As her Judge opponent draws near, Sara Wack (#33) goes for the basket and undoubtedly it is good for two points that helped out the team. Every basket is important as each point counts in the end.

This years Track Team has done extremely well despite a few setbacks. Although running distances both short and long is a major part, being on the track team does not mean that you always run. There is hurdling, long jump, and many more different events. When you go to watch, you need to have in mind what you are going to watch and when because everything happens at the same time. Many long hours of training went into these numerous and also various sports. You could have seen the members of the Track Team practicing during seventh period and after school. In fact, if you drove home along 5900 South or any other major street like State you could have seen some of the team members running along and looking like their having fun. "Running is my life. If I couldn't run I don't know what I would do with all the extra time." comments John Franco who has been running for many years. We owe the Track Team a round of applause for all that they have overcome as a team. Good Job Guys and Gals!!

"One, two, three strikes your out," a park saying, but not for Murray's baseball team. Many hours of practice and hard work resulted in several victories and eliminated the thought of strike-out. "We have a great team," Bryce Johnson announced. "Everyone puts forth effort to work hard in practice. Some of us were on the basketball team, and didn't start practice until the end of February, but that didn't stop the others from after school workouts." Tryouts were held in March, and Coach Penberg was the deciding vote on who would represent Murray. Kem Thomas, an outfielder informed, "We only had to wait once, which is good, but you could try for one position." Fans cheered for Murray's team at Kenwood, and the final tournament was held at St. George. Congratulations for a great year.

Two goals, grass and something that rolls on the ground! Is this soccer? You bet, and we saw some real men play the field. It not only took guts for our Spartan men to play, but a lot of time and energy. Trent Howell reminded, "Soccer is not only a fun sport but a great sport! The thing I love the most is the constant action because its so exhilarating."

This fast game provided team work and individual improvement of skills. Jon Decker replied, "We went into the games psyched and we went home dead tired mentally and physically."

During pre-season, coach Bill Forrest put these men through many obstacles, like running two miles while dribbling a soccer ball, doing sprints, hopping and running hills. Many of the try-outs quit, but those who stuck through it all and made the team formed one of the best in the state.

Teen Institute has been with our school for two years now. Many of the team members participated in a week long workshop held at Weber State in July. "We had a blast!" exclaimed Justin Holder. Those that attended were: Julie Halladay, Justin Holder, Nicalee Lowe, Natalie Roberts, Laurie Tyler and Suzy Wright. "We learned a lot about drugs, alcohol and depression, their affects and how to help someone who needs it", commented Nicalee Lowe.

Teen Institute's main focus through-out the year has been visiting elementary schools and do presentations for the fifth graders. The presentation taught the kids how to say 'no' to drugs and alcohol, and it also taught them about their self-esteem. "It was really neat, younger kids really look up to high school kids. You can really have an impact on them", said Natalie Roberts. "I wanted the kids to know about the pressure of drugs and alcohol and how to say no to it before they were confronted", confided Ryan Taylor.

"Sixth graders need the reassurance from someone they can look up to, to know that it's o.k. to say 'no'", said an enthusiastic Brandon Platt.

2nd Street Rocks

Dance practices started in early June for this year's musical, 42nd Street. "Many of the cast hadn't even tap danced before, so it was kind of hard, but we did it!" admitted Melanie Perschon. The Green Sheet Review said, "The Toe-Tapping Musical was a hit!" And Matt Judd commented that it was so good that he saw it six times.

Very few people realize how much time and dedication it takes to put on a musical. Not to mention personal time that was used to learn lines, the cast sacrificed some of their summer vacation, and probably some big bucks that were needed to make sure all costumes were appropriate. "Just being in the 1940's costumes made the play more realistic," blurted Randy Gehl.

Because of the great turnout by the students and community, 42nd Street was able to put on an oncore performance. All of this was due to the excellent job that the cast put forth. Congratulations on a job well done.

"Cheer ye. Cheer ye all the more . . ." Our mighty Senior Varsity cheerleaders encourage the Seniors to join in on the fight song to show how much spirit they can muster

They've got legs and know how to use them

This year the cheerleaders out did themselves. "Supporting the teams was a really rewarding experience. It was great when we had the support from the student body. It helped boost school spirit that makes Murray more unified. Thanks MHS!" exclaimed Heather Young, Varsity head cheerleader. Many nights and early mornings were spent decorating the players lockers, practicing cheers and preparing for upcoming assemblies and pep rallies. You could very rarely see a cheerleader without brightly colored stains on their fingers from making a countless number of posters.

The cheerleaders deserve a lot of thanks and recognition for all that they did. Games would have been empty without them leading us in another "Cookie Monster" cheer or in one more verse of the fight song. Veronica Allen, Head J.V. cheerleader commented, "The success of the cheerleading squad is attributed to many people. A lot of time, talent, energy, and spirit goes into creating a unified student body. Thanks cheerleaders for making M.H.S. a school we can all be proud of."

The new look of MDC

"There is a time to let things happen and a time to make things happen." Dance company this year has shown everyone that they have the talent and ambition to be the best. They have put 100% of their time and effort into creating the best dance company this school has ever had.

With a touch of new flavor added to the dances, the dance concert was a great success. "The dances were creative and entertaining to all who attended", praised Heidi Swanagan. "The dances were all different and they kept your attention throughout the whole program", informed Joanna Johnson.

Dance company has a unique quality that sets them apart from other organizations in the school. "The Christmas dance with the candles was elegant and really moving I enjoyed watching it", exclaimed Justin Holder.

"The reward of things well done is to have done it." Every member of MDC believes that they have accomplished everything they set out to do this year. "I'm so lucky to be in MDC! The style of the company changed so much from last year! A thank you to every member plus Ms. Lloyd", admonished Kristi Cottam. "I really think this year that we have made a new look for MDC and that everyone was impressed. I am really glad that I got the chance to work with the new members because they were all very special", praised Caty Snarr the president.

"No one is more dedicated to their dancing profession than the Spartonians!" stated Linda Lawrence. They are at school by six o'clock every morning. "Drill is like a second home, a place to always look back to. It takes a lot of time and hard work. I wouldn't have it any other way, because it always pays off!" exclaimed Jackie Wankier. I don't know if it pays off for them but the fans loved to watch them whether it be at halftime during a game or to raise our fighting school spirit at the pep assemblies.

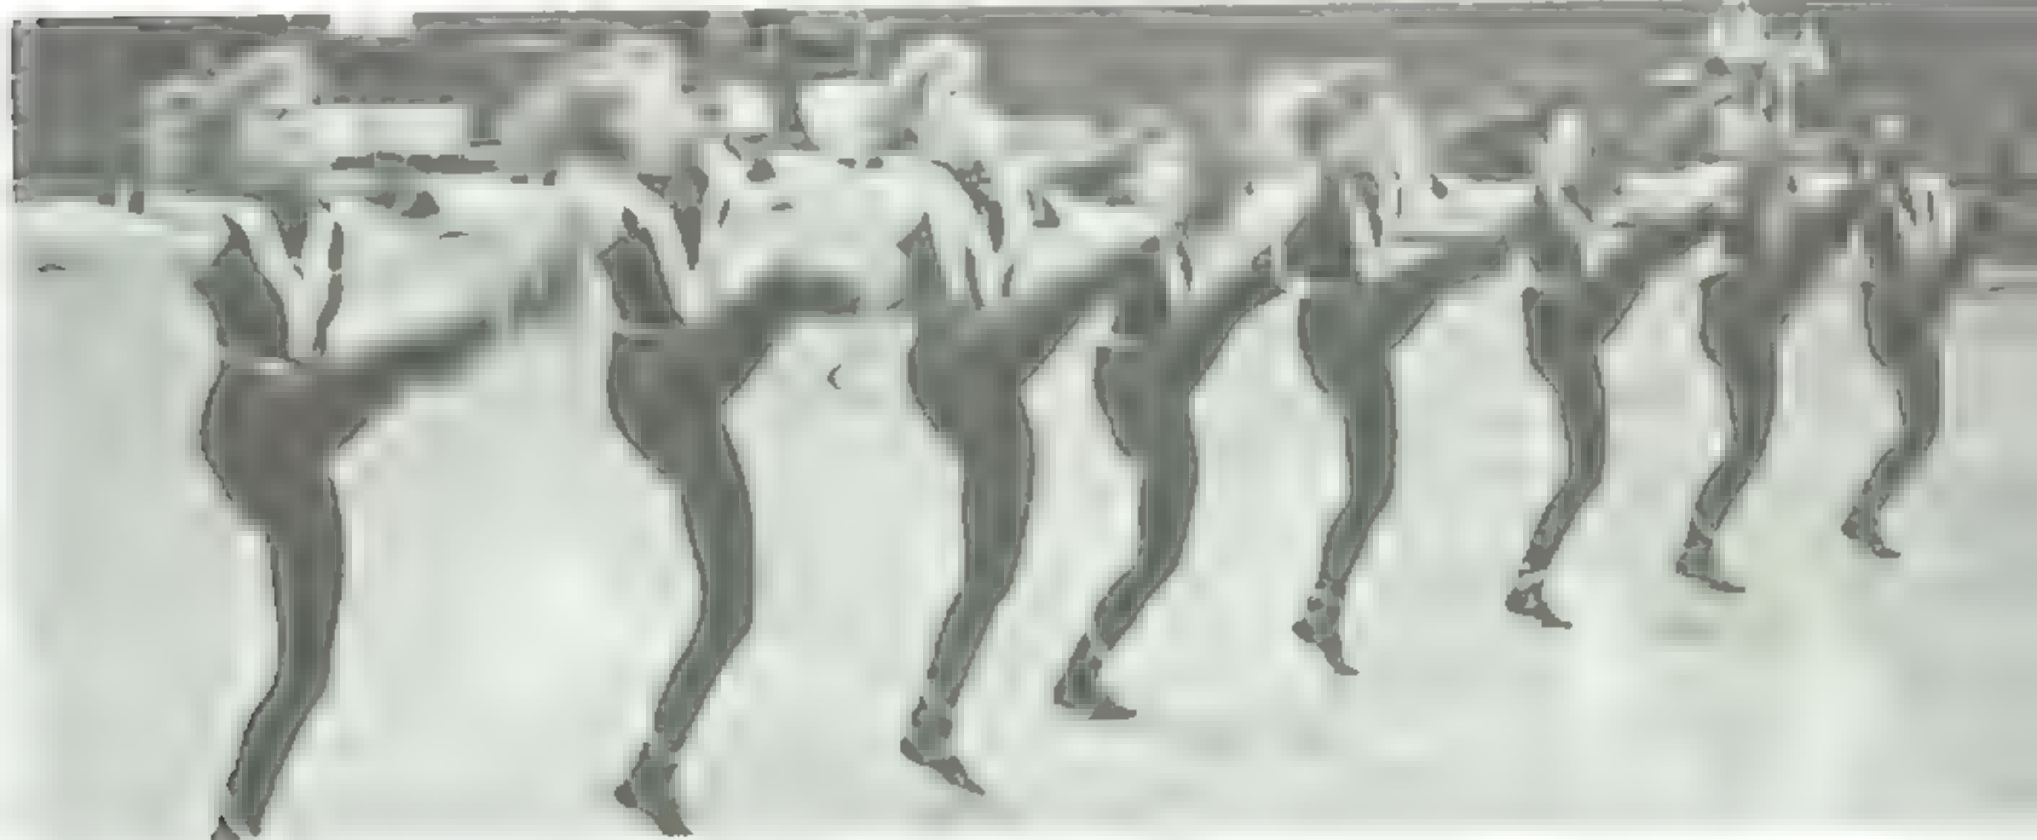

They put alot of time and effort into learning each and every dance. It takes precise counts to be perfect and all together. Going over every step in their minds and physically. They spend so much time together that they become very close. Emily Black brings in all into perspective by saying, "I really have enjoyed being a member of the spartonians I have learned so much about myself and my abilities. The girls on drill are like a second family to me. They should be, I spend most of my time with them. I love them all. Thanks!!!" Hawaii or bust!

Once again a group of Seniors combined their time and their talents together to become the Aceppella Choir. As a popular choir for church programs and other places, like the Church Office building, the members freely contributed all they could to becoming the very best and for the long awaited Hawaiian Festival. "Choir is more like a bunch of friends with a common goal to be the best!" stated choir member Erin Farley. "Everyone has the utmost respect for Mr. Flinders and I think that is what makes his choirs so good. We all would do just about anything to make him proud!" commented choir president Jon Decker. And Melanie Perschon added, "All the work and frustration to make the songs sound great is worth it just to see him smile!"

Singers and Ringers Making great music

When someone says the word "Madrigals," you might think of the word "doughnut," but there is a lot more to Madrigals than just selling doughnuts. They put in many long hours rehearsing and preparing for performances such as those for church groups and personal parties. Kristin Damman stated "Madrigals was a lot of fun and I've made good friends, but it was also hard work." The madrigals not only had to learn their songs, but they also learned choreography to match. Mary Ann Tratos reminisced, "I had fun and it was a year to remember. I'll never forget the times we had together."

Another wonderful performing group was the Bell Choir. With many new members added to the group this year, the Bell Choir did very well starting out with some great performances at places like the Church Office Building during Christmas and a special program at that same time of year. They also rang their bells in memory of Martin Luther King Jr. on that January day which symbolized the mark of a great man and his accomplishments. They put in many long hours of rehearsing their songs to perfection. Aura Lee Allen commented, "Bell Choir was GREAT! It was a lot of fun performing and making new friendships. Thanks everyone for great times and memories that will last forever!" And Tiffany Buchmiller added, "The Bell Choir and Mr. Flinders made my senior year the best, thanks to them all, and juniors, don't forget us!"

L earning to Perform Definitely a Turning Point

Great talent comes from our sophomore and junior choirs. Hawaii is the incentive of many of the entering sophomores, but after one week with Mr. Flinders, they learn there is much more. "Nothing negative could ever be said about choir, it is so much fun, and it's great when you sing a song well, and see the smile on Mr. Flinders face", Natalie Doman confessed.

Both choirs first performance was a Christmas Contata performed in the old gym. It spotlighted many soloist, and upcoming talent. "We practiced so long on the contatas, we were all relieved and excited when the performance finally arrived. And our hard work really paid off", Tricia Siebert commented, a member of the Sophomore choir.

Murrays outstanding Christmas Concert, and Spring Concert included both choirs, along with the A'cappella, Male Gals and Bell choir. "Performing in-front of a crowd is the best part of choir", G. Bills added. Summer Alvey, an observer stated, "They looked so professional and sang great!"

"Choir has become a tradition at school in just two years I have learned much about music, and made so many friends," confides Jennifer Stevens. Both choirs are positive experiences, forming close relationships. "Sophomore choir is one experience I will never forget, nothing is like singing under Mr. Flinders", Kelli Mascher summed up.

by Jenifer Chan

Jolly Old St. Nick! Individual members from each choir assemble together to form a specialty group. "We had to meet after school to practice. Learning the dance was fun," commented Dean Black.

pirit . . . Keeping it alive

Whoever said that you can't go back and recreate the past, must of never been to Murray High School. This year the pep club was reorganized, after being gone for three years, to promote school spirit and to build the studentbody's pride. The positions were open to Sophomore and Jr. girls, whose main duties were to attend the Sports activities and help the cheerleaders cheer. As well as cheering, the girls decorated team member's rooms, the locker room, and made team treats. They performed many skits and dances for the studentbody during weekly pep assemblies.

President Kim Call stated, "It's been really fun to be involved in the beginning of a new club and I hope it will continue to promote spirit for the school." Jackie Ortez, Vice Pres. had to add, "I enjoyed being part of starting a new club and I want to thank all the girls who stuck with it throughout the year. Thanks for all your support!" These two girls worked really hard to get the pep club off the ground, with a lot of overtime and many extra hours devoted to the planning of it.

Cindy Chatwin admitted, "The pep club made me feel more involved in the school's activities that I would have been without it." Many of the sophomore girls found it a great way to start of their first year at MHS. Sharon Lundskog added, "I enjoyed meeting new people and I think it has been a trilling experience." Each person had something different to say about it, but when they all got together you could really see their enthusiasm at the games. Good luck to the pep club in the future!

The newspaper staff put out another great year of the Murray-Go-Round, under their new advisor, Mrs. Shauna Ballou. "Mrs. Ballou was a really hot teacher," commented Eric Rosenhan. Though the staff may have gotten off to a slow start their pace quickened with sizzling editorials and many interesting articles. The staff treaded into new territory this year with a new look. The Murray-Go-Round staff could often be found at odd hours of the day in the computer rooms, working hard to meet a deadline. Aura Lee Allen the Murray-Go-Round's editor explained, "Working with the staff was really fun. Thanks for all the good times and support. Our newspaper staff really kept the news of MHS coming around."

aeolian . . .

A new kind of magazine

A poem, a story, a thought or feeling. Write your soul, write your heart. Literary Magazine comes alive with the experience, imagination, and creativity of the selected members. The staff was chosen in late December and all were invited to the first social at Jason Lowe's house. "Hearing everyone's poems and stories made me aware of the potential that the writers on the staff had. I was impressed with many of the poems because I didn't realize the writing ability of the various writers," replied Jenifer Chandler.

Many days went into producing the Aeolian, the theme chosen for the 1988 Literary Magazine. Aeolian, meaning borne, produced or deposited by the wind, became the inspiration for all the writers. "My first vision was of a sailor drifting into shore, making the final mile only by the sweeping swoosh of the wind," exclaimed Cheryl Kamenski.

During February, the staff took to Millcreek Canyon for a breakfast extravaganza at five o'clock in the morning. The sleepy eye arrivers were awake to the steamy aroma of sausage, bacon, eggs, and the frost mist of the cool winter air.

Such socials and activities provided new ideas for poems and short stories. This year was the first in producing the magazine on the laser printer in the Writing Lab. Graphics and different type styles were used to make the magazine more attractive. "Time, place, and person are essential in showing your true voice," reminded Mrs. Hardy.

D.E.C.A., F.B.L.A. and V.I.C.A improve the future

D.E.C.A. stands for Distributive Education Clubs of America. This is a great club for people interested in marketing and starting their own businesses one day. One of D.E.C.A.'s activities was "Secret Shopper." Members of the club went to stores in the mall and did evaluations on the employees.

F.B.L.A. stands for Future Business Leaders of America. Keyboarding, word processing and accounting are the skills developed in this club. F.B.L.A. competes with other schools in these areas during the year. "F.B.L.A. was a really good experience. I had a lot of fun at the activities", said Aura Lee Allen.

V.I.C.A. stands for Vocational Industrial Clubs of America. The skills learned in this area are, Electronics, Welding and Drafting. The club competes in these areas with the Jordan Region and also on a state level. These competitions are called the "Skill Olympics".

The only requirement for joining any of these clubs is what you have to take a class related to the club you join, which was not hard because many of the business and vocational classes within the school are very popular.

Prince Charmings?

Are they in buckskins or formals?

"MAG this year was really fun and it was great to get to know all the officers. It was a lot of work planning MAG and Spring Formal, but it was worth it cause they were both successes! And for 'Prince Charming', I'm glad it all worked out!" commented President Joanna Johnson.

The Murray Associated Girls officers were hard at work throughout the year. "Our assignments weren't that hard because if we had any problems, we could always turn to one of the other officers for help," said Director Bridgit Beaton.

Not to mention the annual MAG dance, 'Buckskin Bash', which was greatly attended, and the awesome activities that were planned, there was also a treasure hunt that rewarded two lucky girls with free tickets to the dance after they found the secret envelope in a hidden atlas. "A dozen girls were frantically searching the library, but Natalie and I got there first!" laughed Jenifer Chandler.

Spring Formal was stressed at times, and finding the right place was quite tough, but luckily we got the place we wanted in the first place," admitted Lyr Council Lori Davis. As always, the dance was elegant and enjoyable, and all who went had a good time.

Producing a Great Year

Their motto, "Making '88 Great", seems to be true. The Drama Club this year has really been busy with many fun-filled activities.

They went to many productions and learned new ways to do scenes, also if you were a member you got special offers on most of the plays, thus being a member paid off. "Drama Club is the best club I have been involved with all three years because it gets students involved and allows them to do what they want to," declared Norm Knowlton.

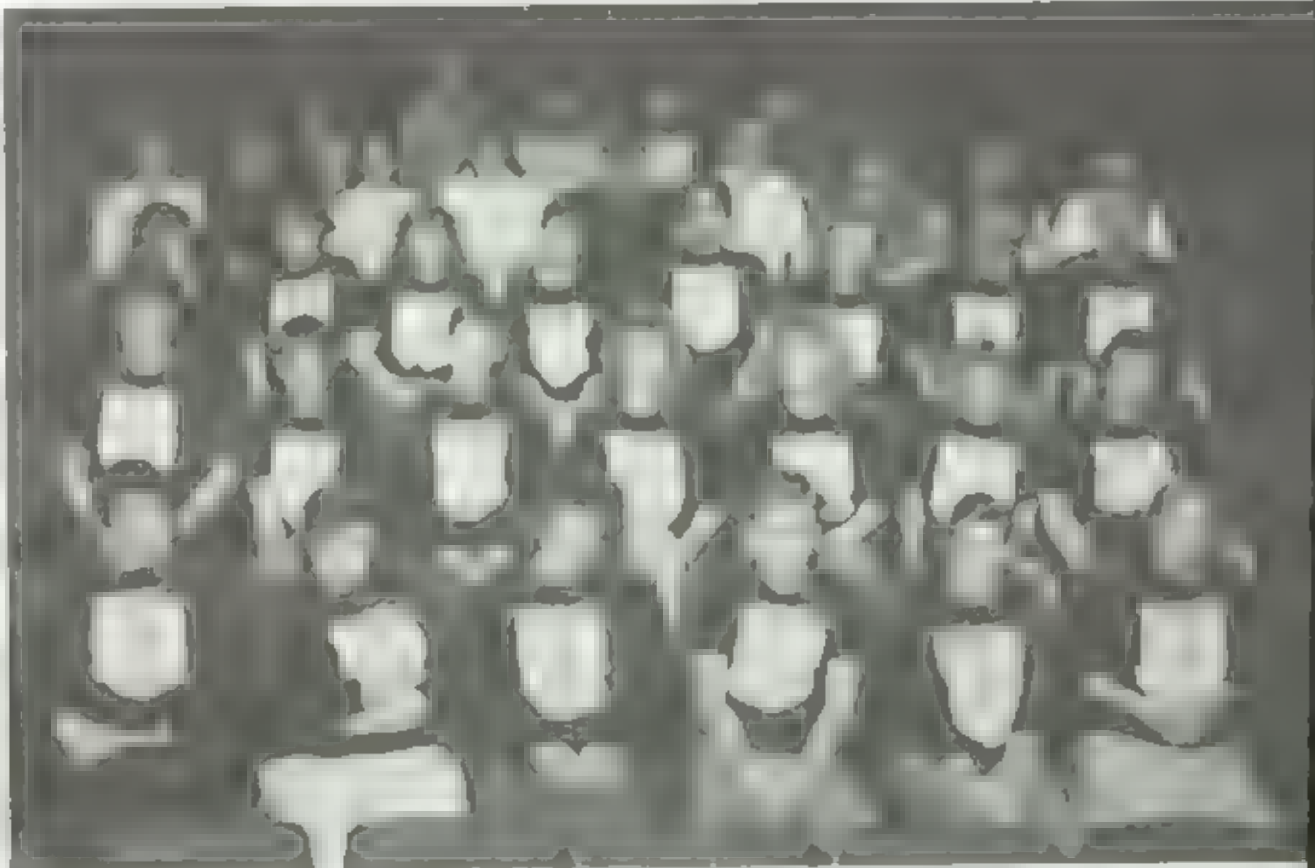

The Drama Club was a great organization where one could make many new friends. With 75 members it wasn't too hard to do. This year was a great success for all who were members . . . they made '88 GREAT!

"Debate is the ability to recognize, analyze, organize, and persuade both for and against any given issue with a minimum of preparational time," states team president Blake Graham. The members of debate learn to twist your mind into thinking what they want you to think. Getting prepared with information takes a long time but it's worth it. It's exciting to be able to persuade the judge to thinking that your way is the only way!" exclaimed Lori Penman. Debating is not the only thing that the team does. There is Oratory, Extemporaneous Speaking, Impromptu Speaking and Legislative Forum. With these they take on all aspects of life in any form they wish. They learn more than persuasive speedh, they learn to better themselves.

A Turning Point

This year has definitely been a turning point for the Crest Staff. Our main goal was to produce a yearbook that was upbeat and yet still held the tradition which is held at MHS. Planning for the book started in June, 1987 during a Jostens Yearbook Camp held at Weber State College. Production began in September as new staff members were shown the "basic steps in yearbooking".

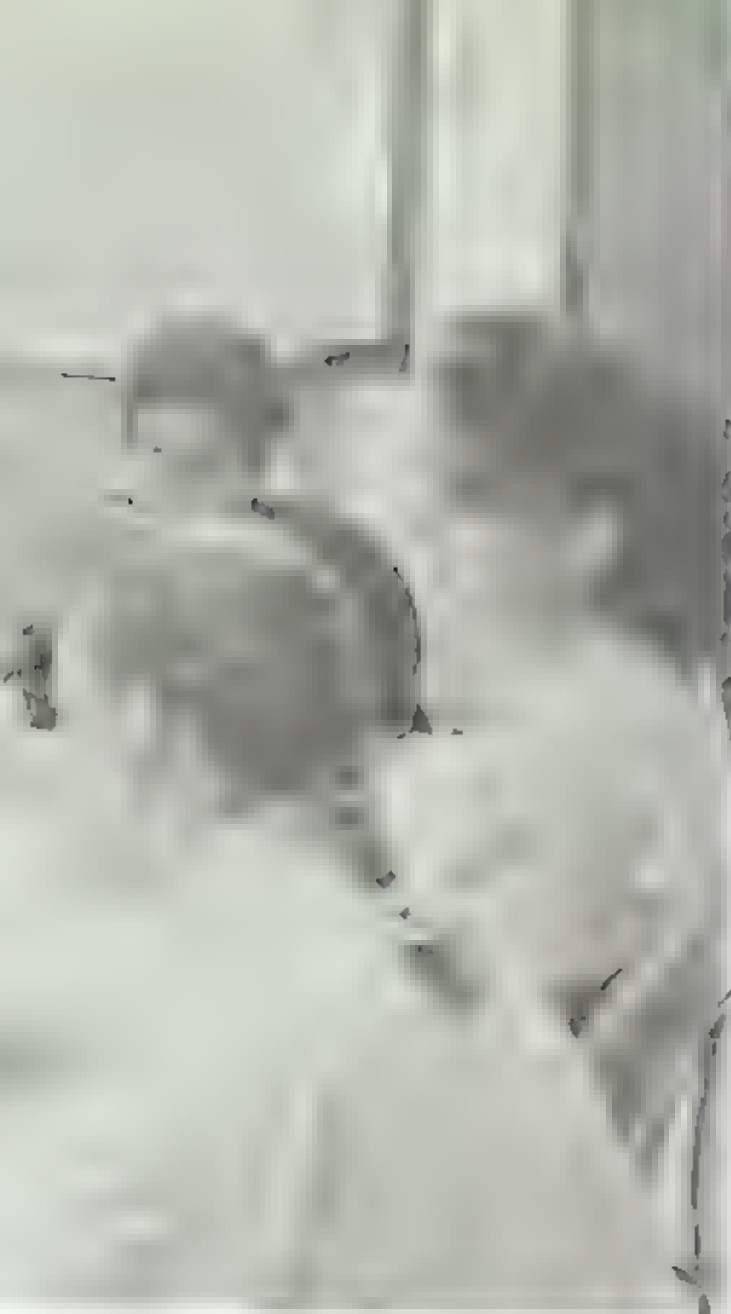

Each page in the book reflects on the lay-out artists, copy writers, and photographers. Many long hours of work went into every page to make the book unique and stylish. It has been a trying and enduring year as we lost Mr. Adams, our advisor, due to illness in January. We kept on working without him, though, and still managed to meet our deadlines.

It seems that stress made up most of the year, but we had our good times too. There was always that relief and sense of accomplishment that followed after we met a deadline and the thought of seeing the book finally done kept most of us going. All the hard work is rewarded when each member of the staff sees the book and their individual pages finished. As a member of last year's staff and also the Editor-In-Chief for this year, I know that there is such a feeling of self-accomplishment inside when the book comes out — we are proud to present "our" book to you. Take note to what we have designed, and what we have accomplished to make this year "A Turning Point".

Love,
Cheryl.

But not at all boring.

Just what is this event titled "Girls and Boys State"? We know it took seven of Murrays students to Cedar City, or Weber State last June, but why?

Girls and Boys State is a statewide Conference sponsored by the American Legion. Its purpose is to educate the youth of today (leaders of tomorrow) in national and state government. It's an annual event comprised of 6 to 8 students per high school, and is nationally recognized.

The process was thorough in selecting the students to participate in this event. First applications were accepted. Then the applicants met with counselors from our school, then they met with a representative from the American Legion to be interviewed.

"Boys State was profound!" informed Eric Black, "We learned the fundamentals of the United States governmental systems ... besides, it was fun." The students were placed in cities where they learned the importance of campaigning, by running for political offices. Debbie Griffiths stated, "In the cities that they put you in, you are forced to get along with girls that come from different environments than yourself. But after the week, you know and love them like sisters."

Girls and Boys State is definately a positive experience for any student who attends.

It quickly through the papers Russell Ruben. "Boys State was profound!" declared trying to organize Mr. Oliverson's desk, but don't let him know of their sneaky intentions.

Interviewing is a part of the job for Miss Sorenson. The counselors worked hard in choosing the participants for this event, and definately made the right choices.

Great Grades not overlooked.

Honor Society is for anyone and everyone who is willing to put forth the effort towards good grades. Taking a look at the members, not only are they dedicated to getting good grades, but they are also the involved people of our school. There are members of the Athletic Department, Student Government, Dance Company, Drill, and M.A.G.

Russell Ruben informed, "It looks good on an application that you were a member of the Honor Society, it shows hard work and dedication." Followed by a comment from Vonae Adams who laughed, "I feel honored to be a member."

The officers were determined by the members of the society, shortly after Christmas. Their jobs included planning activities and preparing the banquet at the end of the year. Trent Howell added a lot of constructive criticism that may be looked upon in future years, "I feel the officers should have been chosen at the beginning of the year, so that more activities could have been planned and carried out." Dana Buchmiller summed it up saying, "It was great, and I hope I will do it next year too."

Roadway Confusion

The drive from St. George was a long and tedious ride for the members of the Academic Decathlon team but being the constructive students that they are they put the time to good use. Following is a poem that was written on their journey back to good old Murray remember to keep an open mind.

Wind rushes through sagebrushes
Snow in the desert sun
School trips are so fun
Strange little comments, new philosophies
We learned quite a bit but the hardware
Guess what?
For sure giggle giggle
Do I have to?
This is such fun ha ha ha
Wow
The words go in, the words go out and you have to ask yourself
Are we the hollow men?

Academic Decathlon pieces these together

The bus trip down to St. George was long and tedious for our Academic Decathlon contestants. They had prepared for this major test all of their lives, but cramed the last 2 weeks before the exam.

When asked about what it was like in St. George, Katherine Tanner said that it wasn't what was expected, and the best part about it was finding out that Earl Webster slept in his underwear.

There was also a lot of help given by the teachers (Miss Budge, Ms. Hardy, Mrs. Chavis, Mr. Meyer, Mr. Young, and Miss Bilyeu. Miss Bilyeu also added that it was a neat experience for her knowing that she helped prepare them for the big tests. But we can't forget Mr. Morgan, he is this year's advisor, and he also put a lot of hard work, and time into it, along with the days he had to spend out of town with a bunch of smart high school students.

As a group they were first in Region and placed 9th in State. But individually Tiffany Buchmiller tied Corey Solum for 4th place in Economics. Scott Finlinson took 2nd in Economics and Chris Snarr took 3rd place in Essays. Katherine Tanner was the only 1st place medalist for Murray in interview.

Sterling Scholars

Have you ever wondered who the best are in the area of academics at our school? I mean, we all know who the #1 people are in athletics just by watching them play, but often times the academic talents of our students are hidden. One way to find the answer to this question would be to try looking at our sterling scholars.

Ten outstanding students were chosen this year to represent our school in the area upon which they excelled in. Among them were: Christy Seiger, Social Science; Anne Walker, Mathematics; Dayne Hassett, Science; Erin Farley, Speech and Drama; Kent Leonard, Foreign Language; Mike Thatcher, Business; Russell Ruben, Music; Quin Checketts, Visual Arts; Sherril Anderson, Home Economics; And Blake Graham, General.

Each of these students not only obtain high G.P.A.'s but are also involved in a great many extra curricular school activities as well. They are all very ambitious and have worked for many years in order to be chosen for such an honor. We wish them all good luck in the future!

by Traci Anderson

Practice makes perfect. Russell Ruben practices his oboe in order to develop and perfect his natural talents. Many long hours of practicing helped Russell to win in music.

Bridging

The Way

"Bridge Building?" This was the response of the studentbody when asked what this contest of skill was.

What this contest is, is that students purchase a bridge building kit and build a bridge. Depending upon how much weight is put on it will decide the winner. Any student can enter, but the one catch - the kit does not come with any instructions. The student must use his own resources of knowledge to build a strong bridge.

This year the contest was held on February 19, and was attended by members of the studentbody. And the winners? Brent Brown took first place and Troy Thompson came in second.

by Traci Anderson

"Look Mom!" Troy Thompson and Gary Hammond display the bridges built by different contestants, showing off the talents at our school, as well as their own smiles.

"Who do you think will win?" Gary Hammond, Nathan Knapp, Brent Brown, and Greg Davis watch with interest while they converse about who they think will take first place.

Weighing the facts . The bridge building official carefully weighs and test each bridge to determine the winner as Reed Sutherland excitedly looks on with anticipation.

is '88's choice

Talent, devotion, and enthusiasm were just a few of the many attributes that this years 1987-88 Crest Award Recipient, Erin Farley, possessed. She was not only a wonderful representative for Murray High, but she was also a good friend to all those whom she came in contact with.

Erin was active from the time she walked into these hallowed halls, starting with Murray Dance Company. She shared her elegant style and flair in MDC for two years and also held the office of Publicity Chairman.

Drama was a major category that Erin touched. She made us love her in, "West Side Story", cry for her in, "The Miracle Worker", and cheer for her in, "42nd Street." All this hard work won her the Sterling Scholar in Speech and Drama and it was most deserved. She also participated in debate for two years and brought home many honors.

And among all this, Erin devoted a great deal of her time in leadership fields. She held the big office of Jr. Prom Chairman and served this year as Studentbody Vice President. She hopefully has set a trend because she was the first girl ever to be voted in as Vice.

So we the Class of '88 would like to honor Erin Farley as our most influential female and would like to wish her all the luck and good fortune in her future.

by Debbie Griffiths

SENIOR GOODBYE

To my dear Murray High School, whom I will miss dearly, I bid you farewell my friend. To the S.B.O.'s may your sarcastic spirits live on forever ... and to the Madrigals, what more can I say? Thanks to everyone who made my 3 years worth every minute!

-Erin Farley

Russ Ruben Tops off the list

When the Class of '88 was asked who the man was that best represented our school, of course Russell Ruben's name was the one who stood out among the rest. Russell's fun loving attitude and kick back personality won the hearts of everyone, while at the same time made many respect him.

Russell first took his class by storm when he was voted in as Sophomore Class President and from then on, he has worked like gang busters to aid the school in any way possible. His Junior year, he served as a Senator and he was a great asset to the officers. And last but not least, this year Russ was voted Studentbody President to reign over the school. And as always he did his job to the fullest!

Besides leadership abilities, Russell possessed great musical talents. These talents helped him in all three years of the choir program where he served as Junior Choir president and was a member of the Madrigals and A'Cappella Choir. Not excluding his vocal abilities, he also had musical ones because he was a member of the Bell Choir for two years which won him the overall category for the Music Department in the Sterling Scholar Competition.

So as a token of our fond admiration and respect, the Class of '88 bids Russell Ruben a warm goodbye and wishes him all the luck in all that he might do.

by Debbie Griffiths

SENIOR GOODBYE

Goodbye Murray High School, who made the 3 best years of my life the greatest. To Madrigals, A'cappella, Bell Choir, and the guys in soccer, you were all swell! And to the S.B.O.'s, thanks for all your hard work and for keeping it all fun!

Russell Ruben

THE PRES IN ACTION: Russell Ruben takes charge of the Homecoming assembly, just one of his many duties as Studentbody President. A lot of the success that happens in the assemblies and pep rallies is mainly due to him.

As SBO's Turn This Year Into Perfection

April 23, 1987 . . . the new 1987-88 Student Body Officers were announced to the students of Murray High. "I kept waiting for my opponent's name to be read, and when they said 'Debbie Griffiths' my dad screamed and hit me with excitement," Debbie admits. After celebrating that evening, they began their hard work.

During the summer they met often, and went to a SBO camp at Weber State. They spent much of their time, raising money for the courtyard and revising our lettering system, which was not an easy task due to the difference of opinion. The halls of MHS became their second home as Ryan Leonard said, "I always saw the SBO's after school decorating for dances or having meetings.

Debbie or Matt always had a cheerful message on the marquis such as "Run Bambi Run!" (During the Deer Hunt).

"The dances and activities were great! You could really tell how much time and effort the officers put into them," Annette McDaniel commented. They are genuine leaders, and have made the year 87-88 the best.

by Jenifer Chandler

RUSSEL RUBEN — President

WOW! What a year this has been! It has been great working with all the other officers, not to mention, becoming close friends. Also a special thanks to Mr. Cooper, we couldn't have done it without him. Thanks, everyone, for giving me this opportunity to serve as Student Body President.

ERIN FARLEY — Vice President

"I have really enjoyed this year — getting the stadium lights, naming the field, and of course, the courtyard. We've accomplished a lot as a school, and the memories will stay with us forever. I will always be proud to say I came from Murray. Thank you for a wonderful year."

MATT JUDD — Secretary

"This year has been great. I have enjoyed high school immensely. I hope that everyone had as much fun as I did. I am grateful for the opportunity of holding office this year, even though it was hard at times. The other officers were wonderful and so were you."

DEBBIE GRIFFITHS — Historian

"And the word of the year was 'HELLO!' It was hello for me by all means. All I can think about is those wonderful morning announcements and those embarrassing skits for pep assemblies. But those tense weeks before dances were great too, so all I can say to my fellow Spartans is . . . Murray Rocks!

KATHERINE TANNER — Activities Chairperson

"Geez — what can I say? Thanks so much for helping make this the great year it was! From Spartan Olympics to Sub for Santa, it created a memory for me. I hope you had as much fun as I did! Thanks for your support — and have a great life!"

WICE AS GREAT IN '88'

"The Senior Officer's" have worked really hard this past year to make our last year the best! And of course it was twice as great, because it was '88'.

"Although it was alot of work, it was alot of fun, because we all worked so well together," commented Eric Weston. The cooperation and enthusiasm that they all expressed, helped to pull the annual Senior Ball. Emily Black, Senior Secretary, said, "We worked many hours but it was worth it. I hope everyone enjoyed it."

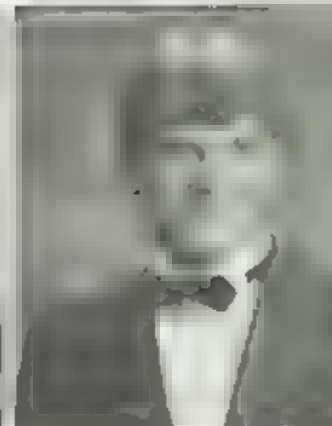

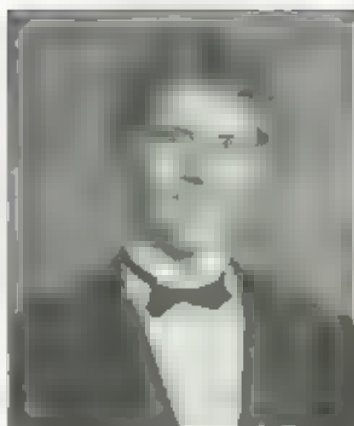

"Scott kept us on our toes!" was all Representative Craig Madsen could say. And the devoted president summed it up by saying, "The real thanks goes to every senior in M H because they are the ones that have made this year the best ever."

Senior Confessions

The truth comes out . . . secrets, we've all had them, and have definitely kept them, but the truth must come out. The question was asked, "Who have you been in love with in the past, and you never told anyone?"

"Aimee Racine, but I never got around to telling her because I was a shy boy," Trent Jensen admits, as he tells of his sophomore infatuation. Wendy Burgess explains, "I've like Tony Allen since junior high. I used to sit by my window and watch him drive past my house

I guess we were just meant to be."

Laurie Tyler was spell bound by Travis Lloyd's eyes, and believe it or not, Todd Tuttle kept his feelings for Angie Oliver a secret. But the best answer given was by Blake Barlocker, "Myself, I've always liked me. I've never had a crush on somebody, they've always had crushes on me."

by Jenifer Chandler

You're kidding me!

"The Couple", Tony Allen and Wendy Burgess take a break to reminisce about old loves and crushes. The truth can sometimes be embarrassing and an unreturned love can hurt more than the embarrassment.

Senior Situation

"Hi Ho, Hi Ho, it's off to work we go." For many of us, as seniors, this is the situation. It is now the time to make plans for the future. For example, Craig Madsen is planning to go to boot camp for the whole summer. Chris Jensen is going to work and earn money for a mission, since college is already paid for. Robert Jorgensen is going to be a "seal" in the U.S. Navy.

While some are working or going to college, others have marriage on their minds. Angie Penrose hopes to marry Coleman but whatever your plans are for the future, good luck to the Class of '88!

Gym to Graduate

You started out as a naive sophomore, soon you were a junior, socially acceptable, now you're one at the top and take on the long awaited title of "SENIOR". You are finally at your last year. Most of the hard work is over and done. Graduation is right around the corner, or is it . . ? As many seniors found out, to be able to graduate, they have to take another P.E. class.

"What is the purpose of taking another gym class and how are we going to use the skills we learn in our future?". "Wouldn't it be more reasonable to take a class in which we could mature and grow?" These are some of the questions asked by seniors and in return the counselors say, "You have to have the credit to graduate!"

by Connie Rice and Annette McDaniel

Gym to graduate many seniors were forced to take gym in order to fulfill requirements for graduation even though many disliked P.E. classes, they still were able to enjoy it while it lasted

Twice as great!

The senior senators for the class of '88 did a fantastic job. They helped plan a lot of great stumps, were involved with Sub. for Santa, and also helped with Senior Ball. Many long and hard hours went into preparation for each event. Fabian Zullo commented, "I am just glad that I had a chance to be a part of this class because it is the very best!" Dori Cooper added, "We had a lot of fun with the different school projects we helped with. '88 is the greatest!" Dayne Hassett and Reed Sutherland both agreed with Angela Kester when she said, "The seniors this year really made it all worth it! It was a lot of fun and 88 will always rule!" The senators planned a year that will not easily be forgotten!

Junior Officers

The class of '89 was full of enthusiasm with hard working officers who planned many fun activities. Vonae Adams stated, "It's been awesome being the vice president of the greatest class ever. I love you guys!". The officers planned a wonderful junior week and junior prom. Carrie Carlston said, "I've really enjoyed being an officer this year! Our junior year has been the best! Thanks for supporting the activities. Class of pride forever!" and Jenifer Chandler summed it up, "I really feel our class has gotten closer this year, and I have been proud to represent you. Thanks for your support. Class of '89 is number one!".

The Middle Child

Have you ever noticed that the old kids always get to stay out late and can talk their parents into anything? And then, there's the youngest kids that always get the most presents for Christmas and are always acting cute. But what about the dreaded middle child, or in other words, the juniors. How do students get through this year of being caught in the middle? They are too old to act confused like sophs and they are too young to be kicked back and carefree as the seniors. "I think juniors are just thankful they're not sophomores anymore!", laughed Jennifer Stevens. "I'm just jealous of sophomore girls because they're getting all the guys!", begrudged Dana Buchmiller. But, through thick and thin, and forgetting what grade is #1, we are all a part of MHS!

Those Blues

You ain't been blue . . . those weekend blues. how do you spend them? There has to be something better to do than homework; it just seems to sit there. Well, some people steal all the plastic forks at Wendy's and go fork the lawns of their "most favorite people". Another thriller is driving past that special guy or girl's house — just to see if they're home. OR you can always park and wait until they leave, then follow them just to see where they are going. The main idea, though, is not to get caught! And yet another excitement goer is to just rent a movie like "Airplane". So, if you're lost over the weekends add some spice to your life. All these suggestions have been tried by members of the studentbody and they assure me they cost under $3.00 — makes for cheap entertainment.

No place like MHS"

Click your heels three times and say, "There's no place like high school . . ." Do you ever feel like you live at high school? and when you finally leave and get home in your cozy bed, you dream all night that you are still there. Well, you're not alone. Many students feel that high school is their second home. "It seems like I'm here more hours than I was in Germany! I like it this way much better," stated Cornelius Goerts. Some people, it seems, enjoy spending their days and nights at school, while others like Doug Dawson say, "It's a cage and I'm trapped in it forever! (or until I graduate)".

JUNIOR SENATORS

This year's junior senators not only made the year fun but they had a great time doing it to. "I really had a lot of fun planning activities and working with the other senators because we are all friends," agreed Jenny Brown and Jennifer Stevens. "There was a lot of work involved in being a senator," stated Malece Wilde "but there were a lot of good times too" Heidi Hurst remembers. "At one of our early morning meetings during the summer, we bribed people to come with donuts and orange juice. Then Jennifer spilled the o.j. all over the meeting papers." Jackie Orteiz sums up her year as a senator by saying "We've seen the best and the worst of each other but we stuck together through it all, and I don't think any of us would have changed this year and the friends we made for anything!"

"What's that?" As Melanie Perschon cheers for the seniors, Margaret Blanchard wonders just why she's clapping for the class of 1988. What is so great about seniors? It's that senior spirit that rubs off on the juniors and sophomores

"You're on candid camera!" Matt Anderson questions Lee Lorimer as to what he likes and dislikes about seniors. "Could it be their wisdom and beauty?" "I don't think so," answered Lee ya? Wanna bet?" Myron Walz explains to Melanie Perschon that '88 is twice as great ## hat about those Seniors?

In mid-December a few classes from both the Jr. and Sophomore classes were surveyed. They were asked to tell their feelings on what else? SENIORS! Here's what they said:

"Seniors think we need advice, so they try to be our parents! That's real nice because we now have a 24 hr. mom and dad constantly around!" -Melissa Weston

"I love seniors! They're people you can look up to and they always know how to have fun . . . it's a disease they have and I'd like to catch." -Heather Fitzgerald

"We'll really miss you guys next year, you're hot! And besides who will be our transportation next year?" -Shelley Finlinson

"The seniors have to be the biggest bunch of studs in the land . . . I dream about them at night, I hope to achieve their perfection." -Kimberly Watts

"They are real cool, plus seniors will teach you new things all the time they're real nice to look up to." -Suzie Wright

"I think they are pretty cool, but I think they could treat us better in pep assemblies." -Becky Boone

"They're great (not bad looking either) I just have one question - "Are the sophomores really the most immature?!" -Lisa Tew

"Seniors act immature sometimes just like everybody else . . . they just have an excuse because they are the oldest." -Kelli Mascher

"Seniors think they're special . . . we know better!" -Travis Lloyd

"Senior guys think that they can pick up on any sophomore girl just because they are seniors . . . stick to your own class!" -B.J. Rosenhan

"I think they should all go back to Jr. High." -Jon Hatman

"SENIORS: they think they know everything. But the truth of the fact is they're wrong." -Rebecca Stock

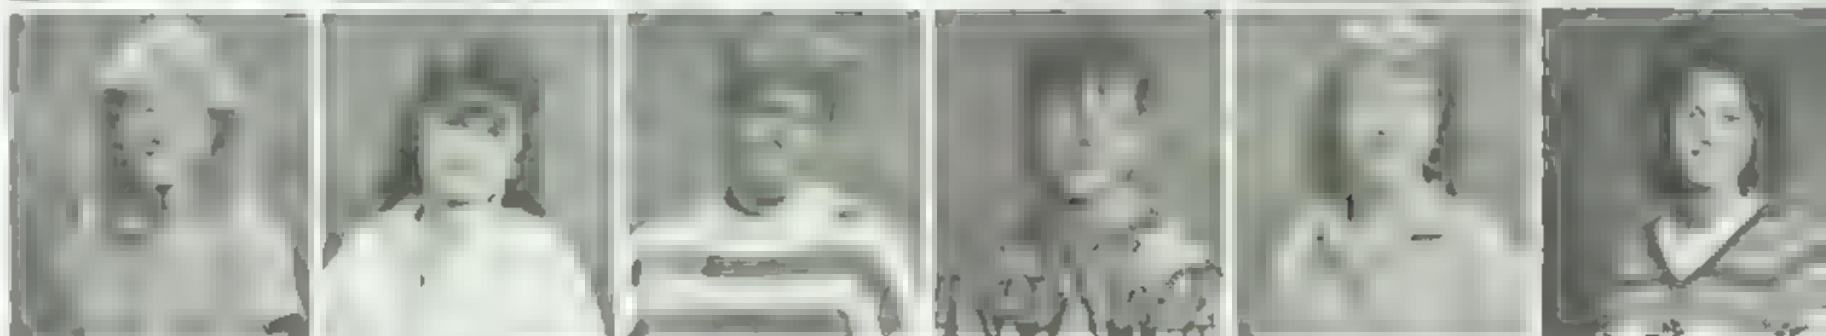

"Seniors, seniors you think you're cool, but next year's seniors will always rule!" -Connie Jo Thorpe

New Decade of Pride

Let's hear it for the class of 90! This year's sophomore class officers came in and took the student-body by surprise with the amount of enthusiasm and spirit they had. Their pride for the school showed when they came up with a fundraiser for the new courtyard.

"Everybody here is so friendly and they make you feel welcome" Shelly Finlinson remarked about the studentbody. Robyn Hancey added "It was great representing the sophomores because everybody has so much spirit!" Heather Neno stated, "I have loved being in office, the sophomores made it really fun!" And to sum it all up Liza Romero had to say, "This year has been really great for the sophomores in. Thanks for all your support, class of 90 rules!"

Class of 90 The sophomore class struts their stuff with this home-made flag of style.

Sophomores, don't be blue

Sophomores. Sophomores don't be blue, someday you'll be Seniors too. We all remember the feeling of being the best, top of the school, king of the hill. Oh, how quickly this title can be crushed or, in other words, taken away. Becoming a Sophomore can be listed as one of the top ten mind boggling experiences. To be top in the school at junior high and making the jump to high school to find yourself facing the long climb again is frustrating. Being a Sophomore is not as bad as it seems. You can make mistakes and blame it on the fact that you are a Sophomore. You can stay at home at night because you don't have a job, thus, no money! Don't be blue, though, it's only for one year and when you are a Junior, you can begin wondering exactly what you're doing in high school.

OUT OF GAS! Running out of gas was one thing sophomores did not have to worry about

Sophomore Life

Ah, the life of a sophomore! Such easy going lives they lead. Seniors often long for a sophomore day. A day without worrying about putting gas in the car, or having to rush to work after school. Being a sophomore, you just have to worry about waiting for your mom to come and get you after school, and after all your activities not involving a bus.

So, if sophomores don't have to worry about jobs, money, or gas, what do they worry about? "Being the smallest in the school," admitted Jason Day. "Not knowing all of the teachers," said David Clift. "I used to think that sophomores didn't date, that worried me!", exclaimed Mendi Mortensen.

Roger Goodwin said, "I still worry about not being able to drive."

Sophomore Senators Mindie Murray, Christine Cook,
Tammy Winget, Christy Brown, Christy Dahl

Boosting Spirit and Pride

The class of '90 is the best!" exclaimed sophomore senator Christy Dahl. This year's sophomore senate rolled in with as much enthusiasm and drive as ever. They worked closely with the sophomore officers to plan fun activities. The senators made the year great!

"Being in office was a lot of fun and it was also an interesting way to start off high school," admitted Christine Cook. "I was grateful for the opportunity to be elected as a senator and I hope that I can serve my class again," stated Tammy Winget. "The class of '90 has been the best to work with, and I hope everybody had a really great year!" finished Mindie Murray.

The sophomore senators showed a lot of pride and spirit for the school and their dedication helped make the year great.

It's been a great year to have been in the same band

It's been great this year.

Tom

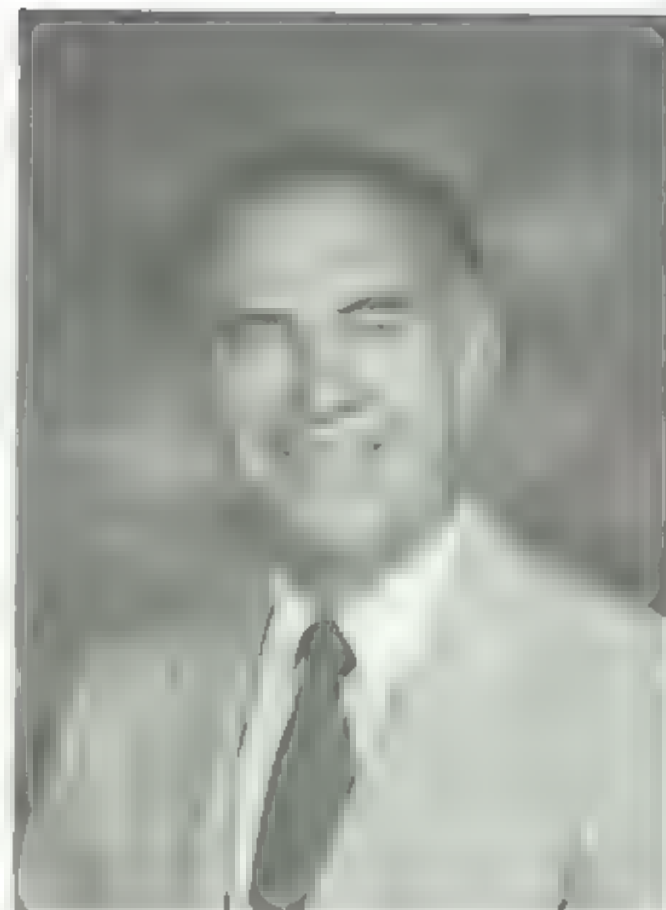

I have had the most unique opportunity over the past fifteen years. That opportunity has been to serve as the Principal of Murray High School. It has been challenging but most of all enjoyable. I have enjoyed it because of the association with the many students, faculty members, Murray Officials and parents. It is always a great feeling to be approached by a graduate from Murray High School.

Murray High School to me represents great "Pride" and "Accomplishment". As I think of those things that have occurred over the many years that I have associated with Murray High, I am very proud of them. I first came to Murray High School in the fall of 1956 as the Football Coach. In the fall of 1963 I became the Asst. Principal and in 1973 I moved up to Principal.

I have had the unique opportunity of being part of all these and many more successful groups from Murray High School. I shall live a long time before I forget them. My life has been greatly blessed because of these great opportunities

By Ray H. Oliverson

Mr. Oliverson is the most dedicated man I have ever known, not to mention the best boss in the world. If there is one thing that I could say about Mr. Oliverson, it is he is too nice. He treats everyone fair and equally including the students. He never judges any students, but instead gives professional but friendly advice with which they can guide their lives. He has a genuine concern for each person he comes in contact with and his warm smile radiates that concern.

By Sharie Woolsey

I enjoyed working under Mr. Oliverson not only for his sense of humor, but for how he trusted me as I worked in the office as an aide. It was a great learning experience and I have the utmost esteem for him.

ministrators

Take Action

At Murray High we had some great administration members, which included Mr. Ray Oliverson, principal and Mr. Richard Tranter, vice-principal. They worked together in making our school the best that it was. Other important administrators were, the members of the Board of Education, and the superintendent, Ron L. Stephens. What ever needed to be done for the school, the administration and board were always involved from improving the school facility to approving school functions. A big administration function was the evaluation by the accreditation association. They evaluated our school. Great job MHS!

The caliber and dedication of Murray High Students is tremendous. Never have I been associated with so many talented students and teachers. There is a great feeling of pride here. It is exciting to be a part of the involvement that the studentbody and faculty take part in ## hen I grow up! What do I want to be

Have you ever wondered what the teachers at Murray wanted to be when they grew up? How did they finally come to become the teacher that they are? We took a poll and asked the teachers what they wanted to be when they grew up? Here's the results

"When I was a kid, I wanted to be a dentist, but then, life would always look down in the mouth." - Mr. Keith Wood

"I always wanted to be a daddy," - Coach Craig Hammer.

"I know it's unbelievable, but I always wanted to be an English teacher." - Mrs. Jackie Chavis.

"I wanted to be a rancher, because I thought that it would be a romantic thing to go and ride up on the range." - Mr. Dee Jensen.

"It was always my life long dream to be a truck driver." -Mr. LaMar Jorgensen

"I wanted to be a professional baseball player, but fate took its toll and now I'm high school counselor," - Mr. Tom Bramble.

"I remember that I wanted to be a cowboy, but then I saw Captain Midnight and he became my idol," -Mr. Nicholas Pond

"My dream was to be a professional football player, but God didn't give me the body for it," -Miss Syd Sorensen.

"When I grew up I wanted to be a teacher, but now that I think about it all I wanted to be was YOUNG," -Mr. Leland Flinders.

To the halls of Murray High

Good-bye M.H.S. I have spent the best days of my life with you. The stomps, games, suntanning in the mountains, Lark, pool & hot tub parties, and the one and only tailgating party. Hockey was great, good luck next year. Good-bye Ryan, Mike, Kenny, Lynn, and gang. Oh yes, a special thanks to Bud for keeping in there, believe it or not I'll miss you too. Take care of my little Nev A.R. I will never forget you. I love you all. I'm going to miss ya. Good-bye.

Jeff Tavey

See ya later MHS, it was good while it lasted. Now that it's over, I'm glad I stayed for all the times at Lark, and all the times at Jeff's and Mike's. Let's not let them end. Hockey was great, better luck next year. Ha- sorry about everything.

Ryan Larsen

When tomorrow comes, this day will be gone forever, leaving in its place fond memories of the past. To MHS, W.B., T.A., G.G., Yr.Bk. Thank you, D.J.N. All my love to Cole! Smile always! It was real, it was fun, but it wasn't real fun!

Angie Penrose

Thank you MHS for the best and worst years of my life. To J.D., N.R., Y.H., D.G., and T.H., thanks for all you love and friendship. To yearbook-it was hard but so worth it. Finally, all my love goes to "the little man" for giving and showing me so much w/o even knowing it-I will never forget you. Although it is time to move on I will hold the memories with me forever.

Cheryl Kamenski

Goodbye S.A., J.W., A.W., and T.F. Good Luck! And now life really begins!

Jennifer Belliston

I made it 3-fun-filled years with that awful green tile! The memories will be with me forever! Thanks to MHS, the many teachers: Mrs. Probst-you're so cute, easy to talk to, and a good friend- I'll miss ya. Mrs. Hansen-I wouldn't have been able to do it w/o you. Also thanks for the friends Christopher (S.L.), W.B., A.P.-good luck with your marriage. I'm happy the yearbook layouts looked ok, and I'm especially thankful for K-Collette-G.

Gretchen Gill

I can't actually believe this is all over to the S.B.O.'s - Pina Colada candies, Manhattan Transter, and the Mamba made it all worth it. To yearbook... AUGH-we did it! To my "Petite flower faced friends, especially the Knee-chees, thanks for putting up with all the TAB fits and making those weekends adventurous (dare anyone?) Tob-I knew you could do it! And to Murray High... you rock! Bender you will always be in Claire's heart!

Debbie Griffiths

I will always love you MHS! And I'll miss you all. Aloha A'cappella and my love, Jacq, I love you a ton! C.K., L.P., N.F., & K.E. I'll miss you! Goodbye!

Natalie Roberts

I can't say I've loved all of it, just most of it. R.L. and A.L. you two mean a lot to me. I love you! Thanks and for those that fill our shoes. Good luck!

Heather "Ha" Alvey

To Hashem, WhiteMagic, Dubage, and Shroomee: Than-x for all the weekends, parties, wrestling, basketball, swimming, football... I'll miss you all and hope the best for you. Love, Heroinee.

Sherrill Anderson

Thanks MHS- To the three amigos- too bad it's only two now. Best of luck to the lost one. And my other amigo, I'm always here. Lis-thanks for always being there & for remembering me. Perfili-woman, I never would have made it last year w/o you! Kari- you made it easier-thanks for Cedar City-remember "The Champions" I love ya! My little Gweedy-my best friend! Anzak- forever! We finally made it! I truly cannot believe that it's over and now it's time to finally live life. Thanks to all the friends and the fun times we've had. In the past the teachers who have helped, thanks, DJ, Lam, and Sammy. To the Crest Staff, well I believe 3 yrs. is long enough. There were times I don't think that I could have made it without you, Cheryl. To C.C. you've been a total doll & thanks for all the advice. I'll never forget "Up the Creek" w/ you, M.H., T.M. To J.D., F.Z., L.P., 1st period was the best w/ you guys! To the class of '88, welcome to the real world this is where the fun begins!

Michelle Lyon

Thank Murray, for giving me a second chance, especially Mr. B.C. Good luck to all, R.B. and goodbye to all my friends: D.G., K.T., S.M., A.S., and so on! Love ya.

Tobie Burns

A little help to all those who have to face life. Don't let life discourage you, everyone who got where he is had to begin where he was.

Trent Howell

Murray, these years have been a fun game in the game of life. Now it's time to play the rest. So look out, because I play for keeps. Thanks a lot: J.T., R.L., B.M.

Corey Solum

The memories I take with me of MHS: A Cappella, Bell Choir, and the class of '88 will stay with me forever. To my friends, thanks for always being there for me. Stay Close & keep in touch. I love you! Class of '88 you are the best! Good luck!

Aura Lee Allen

Sam, Claire, Bird, and Shea: Here's to the junk food, No Doz, and the weekends. I'm never gonna forget you guys. But then who could forget Murray High? Just remember, "You can not possess the Sex Goddess!" -Malary

Stacey Carter

Goodbye to all my pretty petite flower faced friends- I'll be sending you a velvet painting of Elvis as soon as I make my first million!

Bridgit "Bird" Beaton

It's sad to say goodbye, but I'm glad it's finally over. To all my friends: Vixen, N.P., J.R., H.N., I'll never forget you and to M.L. "up the creek" will live forever! Take Care. But most of all C.B. and T.M. I love you both dearly and you both share a special place in my heart. Thanks for the great times and the never ending parties.

Kristie Comer

I walk down the halls and I realize I'll never see most of these people again. I can't tell you how happy that makes me! Goodbye Murray High-Forever!

Chad Forrest

The time is now at hand to say goodbye. I thought the time would never come. Putting off making all of you my friends. Now, my chance is gone. I'll miss you.

Matthew Judd

GOODBY MURRIE HY!

Chad Steed

I want to thank the studentbody for making MHS what it is... #1! I've had a great and memorable 3 yrs. here. Spartonians & Miss Lloyd-thanks for your friendships & hard work, you made my job easy. And to all of the wonderful friends, a special thank you to you: E.B., B.S., A.Z., J.W., N.S., R.P., C.M., & J.J. I love you! Oh, how could I forget, the "Guys"-M.J., T.B., T.T., E.J.B., S.W., & T.F.-You all added a little spice to my life! Tobias-keep in touch- big love always!

Alicia Smith

Say goodbye to the best times of your life. Remember the legend of Bob Marley will live forever. If you remember this, it will keep everything in perspective.

Brent Brown

High School may be over but the memories will stick forever. The best of luck to the Spartonians & Ms. Lloyd- it was the best thing that ever happened to me. To my friends who I will love forever: J.W., N.S., B.S., A.S., C.M., E.B., S.B., R.P., S.E. give me a call, we'll do lunch. And to the guys (geeks?): T.T., T.B., J.C., E.J.B., M.J., & last but definatley not least Q.S.W. thank you for making me smile. I love MHS! Angela Zamorano

MHS thanks for the memories! Spartonians- I love you all very much! Good luck next year! Literary Mag. & Mrs. Hardy-thanks for allowing me to discover myself! Sr. Officers & class of '88-hope to see you throughout the years. Cecil- I love you! Thanks N.S., A.Z., S.B., S.E., R.P., B.S., C.S., J.W., E.F., J.J., D.G., C.M., D.C., M.B.- for everything. "Guys" (You know who you are) I wish you would have given me a chance. Erik- you're the best. I'm going to miss this place, and all of you! Aloha!

Emily Black

To Murray High: The WAVE was here, now he's gone. To all my friends so long. To M.D., B.S., A.P., S.A., thanks for the great year. To S.L.H. thanks for being there for me and I will always love you.

Dave "The Wave" Nielsen

Thanks for all the good times MHS. Athletics are the best, good luck best year to football & basketball. And good bye to all of my friends, guys and gals. I wish all of you the best. It's been fun- I'll miss it. Bye!

Goodbye MHS To Mouse & Jen Thanks for always being there for me & all the laughter we shared I love you both!! I will always remember you keep in touch!! To L.M. S.K. Thanks for everything & to all my locker neighbors you all ROCK Life goes on but the memories will stay with us all forever. Goodbye class of 88 PS Beep Beep Bye!

Angie (Sweety) Schwab

Goodbye to all the friends I have had and to MHS students Take Care and have a wonderful life!

Kim Thacker

After 12 yrs. of school graduation and now I have to pay for it

Brian Chaffin

This year has been a blast but thank goodness it's my last. The time really flew by. Goodbye Murray High

Denise Jensen

I cannot say goodbye to my friends. I hope to see them again. I cannot say goodbye to the school. It isn't going anywhere. I cannot say goodbye to the career I've had. I carry that knowledge with me. But I must say goodbye to the past, to the glorious, exciting, and wonderful experiences that have taught me so much.

Blake Graham

To the class of 88 you're the greatest! Thanks for all the good times. Best of luck!

L Hine Jones

Always remember all of the good times that was spent in High School. Yet always look to the future and become what you want to be.
 I love ya Nat. Thanks for all of the good times and there will be more! I can't wait.

Doug Dawson

Graduation the year comes to a close for the Class of 1988, now we look to the future

From old to new Here, the unfinished courtyard stands, hopefully the Class of 1989 will see it finished. The courtyard was one of the many things planned for 1989.

WET PAINT! Many wet paint signs were posted in the halls to announce the "new look" to our school. Improvements to the building made MHS a more pleasant place to come to.

Graffiti??? Spirit bearing messages blared from the unpainted walls — promoting spirit and awareness of the up and coming sports events to all who walked by.

n Closing

The End Has Come

At last the year has come to an end. All the textbooks have been closed, all the notebooks thrown away. There is more to the year than that, more than just tests and homework. We've laughed and cried but we've come through it together. All the new friendships made and lost, the good and bad endured, the hurt and pain tolerated; we've spent most of our time together and many memories were made to cherish in years to come.

We've turned from small to big by lighting the football field and track. We've started a courtyard, one we'll enjoy at our fifth-year reunion. We cheered our teams to victory and comforted them in defeat. We've matured through our experiences, those not learned through a textbook sometimes considered more valuable. We've grown together, getting to know others almost as well as ourselves.

We've changed through one year, we've been faced with newly painted halls and lockers, no more Coke, and many new faculty members. But through all these turning points, the spirit throughout M.H.S. has never died.

It's now time for the Class of 1988 to turn our tassels and point toward the future. Wherever we go, whatever we achieve, we will always have that foundation that stems back to the years at Murray High School.

Editor's Comments

Finally it's over what relief! Being the Editor-In-Chief has been the hardest and most responsible job I have taken on. It has been an enduring year where emotions and stress have run high. This experience is one that I will never forget. I have learned so much about not only yearbook but life as well. Thanks to Ms. Hardy, Mrs. Probst, and Mrs. Chavis for all of their knowledge, wisdom, and support in helping me dealing with the stress. Thanks to all of those who put in as much time as I did during those afterschool-/late night hours before deadlines. Thanks Deb, for being there, it was always more than enough — so here's to "Group Suicide" and thank goodness we didn't do it-life now seems to precious. Love, Cheryl

P.S. Thanks for being there for me in spirit.

I enjoyed capturing special moments on film and working on the staff. Although at times it seemed impossible to meet our deadlines, we made it. I thank all those who endured the struggling times we had in putting it together. Those like Cheryl and Debbie who spent many hours of their own time to make ends meet. It was difficult, but I know it will be worth it.

First off, being an editor on the yearbook staff can certainly be trying at times! It was fun working with everybody. I can't wait to see final results of the book. Cheryl Kamenski did a great job! She was a very helpful and understanding chief editor. I will miss working with her.

I wish I could say that every moment of this wonderful experience was a joy, but I swore not to lie. Even though those many late nights were full of challenging dilemmas, they were full of laughter! Cheryl-honey you deserve about 40 million cases of Tab! Thanks for putting up with all the B.S. all year long. And to those devoted staff members, I am forever indebted to you . . . Thanks for listening to me when Sarcastic Sabrina came to town! I will always remember good ol' Yearbook-It is something I'll never forget! You all rock! love

Copy Editor

If your looking for a party-Don't look here! Yearbook has been a lot of fun these past 3 years. But more often then not it has been a lot of hard work, and plenty of satisfaction. It's been wonderful working with Cheryl and the staff and, at times, it had been very trying. But I wouldn't trade it for anything! Except maybe for another year, or two, or Good luck next year!

Heather Alvey
Computer Editor

It's been a lot of work-but it was all worthwhile the nights after school were a trauma but somehow we managed to laugh! Here's to "Group Suicide" and of course the "Official Yearbook Stress Reliever"! This experience had been a hard one but I've learned a lot and also had fun.

COLOPHON

The 1988 CREST, Volume 72, was printed by Jostens printing and publishing in Visalia, California. The Cover was designed by Cheryl Kamenski with the help of Deborah Probst, a staff representative. The theme and colors were also originated by the staff. All body copy is set in Lydian style 23.

Books were pre sold at $20.50. The press run was 975 copies. It was the seventy-second year the CREST was scheduled for spring delivery.

Special Thanks . . .

We, the CREST staff of 1988, would like to offer a special thanks to Mr. Ben Adams for the 20, some odd years that he has devoted to advising the work and production of Murray High School's yearbook. Without his past guidance and wisdom, we could have never gone on and finished the book in his absence. We know that his illness has been a long and enduring struggle, but he has shown great courage and pride throughout his battle.

Tom! Great
Have a great Summer!

Tom-
and you are way sexy
in 5th I miss the times know how I felt about you but just ask Rodney.
Thanks for the times - love ya -
P.S. you know where I live!

Tommy -
I'm going to need your help don't desert me now. We did good - especially pgs. 22, 23. you are the best and I am so glad I had the opportunity to get to know you.
Thanks for the friendship!
for Chandler.

Tom,

It's been an awesome year & next year will be even better. Practice

Tom!

You're one hell of a drummer, no doubt! I'll be comin' and watching you play next year!
But hey, have fun next year!

Later,

Hi Tom,
Well jazz band was awesome. I can't believe how good we did this year - It's been great - I'm going to miss it. Take care feed the sheep!

Dear Tom,
Thank for helping me in history. Good luck with band!

Tom -
It was fun working at the park, you had a real hard job.
It's too bad I won't be there again. Have a good life and Good luck in what you do
Chad S

Tom,

I must tell you that I love your hair. You've got a sweet haircut.
You didn't say too much during the semester. I enjoyed having you in class. You're a great kid.

Miss Budge

Tom -

Hey babe! I'm so glad I got to know you this year. It's too bad (for me) that you & Krista are hitched because I think you would make an awesome date!! You are going to be the life of band next year, so live up to senior standards.
I'm going to miss you!

hey pal! - how are ya? Thanks for being such a great friend - but I'm glad yearbook is over! Good-luck next year! Keep-in-touch!

Tom,
You awesome drummer, percussionist, etc, extraordinaire.
Next years jazz band will suck,
But you and me will take over, and play some RUSH. OKAY, OK.
JAY.

To my very best English student may you always do as well!
